THE LEADER OF THE MAFIA IN CUSTODY

Giuseppe Morello and Six Confederates Charged With the New York "Barrel" Murder.

BAND OF ASSASSINS AND COUNTERFEITERS

For Years They Have Committed Terrible Deeds and Laughed at Attempts to Convict Them.

SIMILAR MURDERS STILL MYSTERIES.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Among the unsolved murder mysteries in this city are several closely resembling that concerning the body found in a barrel on Tuesday.

Meyer Weisbard, an East Side pedler of gold jewelry, whose side was found in a trunk on Feb. 6, 1901, on Pier No. 10, East river, had several cuts on the body, and his throat had been cut with a sharp instrument.

On the shore road at the foot of Seventy-third street, Bay Ridge, the body of a man with throat cut was found on July 23, 1902. The body was stripped.

One of the most brutal murders in the history of this city was that of 11-year-old Susie Martin, whose dismembered body was found in the cellar of No. 317 West Thirty-ninth street, on March 1, 1884. All four limbs were missing and the body had been parboiled.

The dismembered body of an unidentified man, six feet high, was found in the East river at the foot of Roosevelt street on Feb. 8, 1888. One of the thighs was found three days later at the foot of Pacific street, Brooklyn.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 18.—The murder of the unknown man found with his throat cut in a barrel early on Tuesday morning is still a mystery; so is also his identity, but it has led to the arrest of the leader of the Murderous Mafia Society in America and the implication of 16 others, six of whom are in custody.

The name of the leader is Giuseppe Morello.

Today Chief Flynn of the secret service said:

"This particular gang belongs to the Mafia of Palermo province. In every city in the country they are organized, and Morello, who has been arrested, is the head of the Palermo Mafia in America. He is a man of great influence."

"Much has been found in the private papers and letters taken from the prisoners that may yet be available as evidence. Interpreters are at work translating these papers, and we have the names of persons in other cities, with whom the suspects have been intimately associated. Police chiefs throughout the country are aiding us in our investigations."

What the motive was for the murder of the unknown man is not known. It was perpetrated by the band under Morello, but authorities are not in a position to state, but it is assumed that he was killed because of his knowledge of being a spy.

Inasmuch, however, the leader of the band is known to have been the country's most notorious member of the society, it is believed that the crime was committed because of lodge differences, or perhaps betrayed secrets. That the murder was committed on the very night the secret service appeared in the band is regarded as an indication that he was lured here for the sole purpose of being gone away with.

Whether he was the author of a note, done in a woman's hand, and found in the barrel with the body, urging the recipient to "come quick, have any bearing on the secret," Inspector Morello would not tell. A woman was once associated with the counterfeitors for years, it is said.

Stella, a woman from New York, but since she was sentenced to 10 years last fall, there has been no other woman in the circle, so far as the secret service men know, and they have had the man under very close surveillance for many months.

To the surprise of the authorities, evidence was found in the trunks and boxes in the homes of the men to indicate they constitute the band of daring blackmailers which for upward of two years has preyed upon wealthy men in the city and vicinity who are easily intimidated by threats of murder. Scores of complaints were made to the police by Italians, who kept secret, but the authorities, although working sedulously to unearth the swindlers, never ascertained the identity of a single member of it.

Common Crime.

Dozens of will-to-do Italians in West Chester, Hoboken and small towns contiguous to New York were threatened by letter with murder if certain sums ranging from $100 to $1000 were not paid on certain dates, and investigation by the authorities showed that in most instances the sums were paid.

In West Chester an Italian was nearly murdered. He was left for dead, but was unable to give the police enough information to bring about an arrest. He had been threatened with murder and he ignored the requirements of the law, which seemed both as than ever in its operations. It flooded the Italian colony with letters of its mysterious but fearsome character and reaped a few wealthy men banded together to combat the depredations of the swindlers and gold-diggers and refusals, talked the blackmailers. For several months the work has not been going on.

Letters, documents of various sorts, and telegrams found the true author of the勒索信件 made late last night by Inspector Schmittberger, prove to the satisfaction of the authorities that the swindlers are guilty of the勒索信件 of the "Newcomer," the name under which grouped upon those Italians.

THREE WAIFS FIND SHELTER IN A SHED

ANNIE AND GEORGIA JURGENSEN.

Photographed by the Post-Dispatch.

ADRIFT FOR DAYS IN CITY STREETS

Jurgensen Children Shifted for Themselves When Mother Became Sick.

Three little waifs were found in a shed in the rear of 4554 Eastern avenue by John Finkler. They had slept there three nights. Finkler fed them and gave them shelter, and notified the Humane Society.

The trio consists of Annie Jurgensen, 14; Georgia Jurgensen, 5, and Catherine Jurgensen, 2.

When Finkler found them the younger children were crying, and Annie Jurgensen was trying to soothe them. They were wet, bedraggled and hungry. There was a look of despair upon the face of the older child. She was trying hard to be a little mother to them, but she herself, weak from want of food, knew better than they the hopelessness of their condition.

It was discovered that Catherine, the baby, was very ill. Exposure had given the child a severe cold and she is now in the Children's Hospital.

Saturday when the children were at the room of the Humane Society, the news came that their mother, from whom they had been parted Wednesday, was dead at the Female Hospital. The eldest child was heartbroken at the news.

Little Georgia tried to comfort her older sister by repeating the assurance Anna herself had used so often during the last few days: "Mamma will come soon; don't cry."

No one felt equal to the task of impressing the cruel truth upon her childish mind and she was left to cherish the delusion.

Dec. 20, 1901, the family was found by humane society agents in a hayloft at 1422 Walton avenue. There was a married daughter with a month old babe with them then. Their situation was alleviated, but again in February, 1902, the humane society found it necessary to take the children away from their parents.

Water Rate Collections.

Francis Scharwitz, collector and assessor of water rates for St. Louis, has filed his report for the first year. The collections amounted to $1,654,240, a reduction of but $5,024,69, while the reductions made in rates by new ordinances amounted to $156,90.

FOUR NEGROES FOUGHT ON BOAT

After One Was Wounded Two Jumped into the River.

The steamer Chester was the scene of an exciting affray Saturday morning while on her trip up from Cape Girardeau. She arrived at her wharf in St. Louis at noon. Two hours before four negro roustabouts, after being paid off, began to quarrel on the deck.

From words they passed to blows. Two fought against the other two. Finally guns were drawn by the whole party, and a desperate battle ensued.

The two men who were getting the worst of it, after wounding one of their opponents, suddenly dashed to the side of the steamer and plunged overboard. One of these men succeeded in swimming safely to shore, but his companion, Otis Price, was drowned.

When the Chester reached her St. Louis moorings, the negro who had been wounded was still lying where he had fallen. He was removed to the city hospital. His companion, who was unhurt, was placed under arrest and locked up.

The trouble occurred as the boat was opposite Crystal City.

PRESIDENT REPLIED HOTLY TO MORGAN'S ULTIMATUM

"I Do Not Intend to Have a Stock Ticker in the Department of Justice," He Said, When Financier Protested Against Securities Suit.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, April 18.—The North American today prints this Washington dispatch:

"When the government moved in the Northern Securities matter, the J. P. Morgan group were amazed. A conference was held and it was determined to call the President to account.

"Robert Bacon, then a partner of J. Pierpont Morgan, was picked out to do it. Mr. Bacon called up the President on the long-distance telephone from New York. It is said the words were not minced. The

KENTUCKY WANTS W. S. TAYLOR

Expected to Issue Another Requisition on Indiana Authorities.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 18.—The Indiana authorities have been informed that Kentucky will issue another requisition for W. S. Taylor, based on the testimony of Henry Yousey at Frankfort, that Taylor engineered the assassination of Gov. Goebel.

Taylor is afraid an attempt will be made to kidnap him and is constantly surrounded by friends.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. C. Nicolls of the Second Presbyterian Church in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

Mrs. Josephine Wooster and Mr. George Dingley Clark were married at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at 437 McPherson avenue, the new home the bridegroom has just completed for the bride.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. C. Nicolls of the Second Presbyterian Church in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

Mrs. Wooster, who is one of the handsomest women in fashionable circles, wore a stunning going-away gown of smoke gray satin, richly appliqued in brown shades, and a small hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark departed on the midday train for Atlantic City, where they remain a month.

THE GERMANS TAKE OFFENSE

Why Should American Ships Pay Honors to French Ruler.

AFTER DECLINING THE INVITATION TO KIEL

Some of the Berlin Papers Express Bitter Resentment at What They Regard as an Insult.

BERLIN, April 18.—The German press does not distinguish between the visit of the United States European squadron to Marseilles and the program planned for the United States North Atlantic squadron, on behalf of which the American government declined an invitation to visit Kiel during the coming regatta there. Therefore, some wonder is expressed as to why "special honors are shown the French President by the American navy, immediately following the refusal of the German Emperor's request."

One or two papers express themselves bitterly on the subject and say the Germans "do not miss much in not having a sight of the American ships." * * * As telegraphed from Washington yesterday, the Associated Press was authorized on the highest authority to make this statement of the position of the navy department in the matter of the visit of the United States European squadron to Marseilles.

"Nothing was further from the mind of Secretary Moody or the Washington government than giving offense to Germany by extending an appropriate courtesy to a sovereign of a friendly nation. The suggestion came from the state department to present the admiral to go to Marseilles in time to greet President Loubet especially as it would touch there to take on board the new commander-in-chief, the Admiral Collier, as he was the captain of the American men-of-war to Kiel, no invitation reached the navy department from Berlin for the European squadron to go there."

On the other hand, the authority it is stated that had such an invitation come it would have been accepted.

MAYBE 'TWILL; MAYBE 'TWONT

Sunday Weather, With Thunderstorms Hovering Near, Is Quite Uncertain.

Sunday holds forth uncertain promises as to the weather. Perhaps it may and perhaps it may not.

Dr. Hyatt says: "Partially cloudy Saturday night and Sunday, with probable thunder storms. Warmer Saturday night."

The thunder storms and the bad weather are coming from the West, where they have already and a share of it. Ominous heavy showers, with very high winds, are also prominent in the Iowa reports.

The front line has got as far south as North North Carolina and Tennessee. The Ohio valley and New Mexico also feel a touch of frost. Eastward the weather is clear, as a rule.

TO END HIS LIFE IN PRISON

William McKay, Sentenced to Twenty-five Years at Hard Labor, Expects to Die Before Release.

William McKay, alias "Buck" McKay, who was convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced Saturday to 25 years at the penitentiary, is exceedingly downcast over his long sentence, which he says means he will have to spend the balance of his days in prison.

The jury brought in a verdict at midnight and the sentence was imposed Saturday morning. McKay was convicted of killing his employer, H. B. Hayes, at Kay's saloon at Seventh and Clark avenue, Oct. 31, 1902.

The police are of the opinion that here McKay has been extremely lucky in avoiding punishment. While they do not make any specific charges against him they say they have evidence that he was "up to his ears" and a man who was willing to take desperate chances if sufficient boot-happy happened to be in sight.

HASN'T EATEN IN 28 DAYS.

Former School Teacher Becoming Weak From Long Fast.

ARMSTRONG, Mo., April 18.—William Sorrell, formerly a prominent school teacher, who was an inmate of the Randolph County Infirmary, has since March 21 refused to eat any food or take any kind of medicine.

He will not allow anyone to see him, and his appearance begins to show the effects of his long fast. He will not talk to any one.

Entire Legislature of That State to Visit World's Fair April 20.

Members of the Illinois legislature, 200 strong, will attend the World's Fair dedication in a body, according to J. N. C. Shumway of Taylorville, Ill., member of the Illinois World's Fair Commission.

Mr. Shumway is in St. Louis arranging for the visit of the legislators. They will come and return home on a special train, staying at the Lincoln Hotel, while the legislative session is in progress.

Specific charges as to drunkenness and threats of a nature were made.

Mr. Platt alleges that as secretary of the George F. Johnson Contracting Co. Platt makes $20 a month, and she wants all money.

The proposition was rejected, and the two senators lined up on the side of the baking powder trust.

Four other indictments will be returned by the grandjury today.

Paine's Celery Compound is more talked of in the springtime in each state, city, town and village, than any other medicine now before the public. It has a place in the homes of the wealthy, influential and intellectual; it is the disease banisher that has the entire confidence of our men and women who toil daily in workshops, stores, offices and homes. When the first warning symptoms of physical weakness and disease are experienced, wise and prudent men and women invariably seek new vitality, health and strength in nature's health builder, Paine's Celery Compound. If the reader of this article finds it difficult to obtain restful sleep, if nervousness and weakness are causing alarm, if the blood is impure and sluggish, if rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, kidney or liver troubles are commencing to annoy, follow the safe and wise example of ex-Mayor Sutton of Burlington, Vt., use Paine's Celery Compound and promptly banish the little ills; do not wait till you are sick. One bottle, as a rule, will brace the nerves, correct impaired digestion, cleanse the blood, and make you robust and strong. Read Senator Sutton's cheering testimony:

"People have often asked me how managed to keep so well, for although out in nearly all kinds of weather, and traveling considerably, I have no aches or sickness. My one answer has been, that instead of waiting until I am sick in bed and forced to stop work for a while, whenever I feel out-of-sorts the least bit, I take Paine's Celery Compound, which keeps me well and strong. It is a great deal better, in my opinion, to take a medicine that keeps one well, rather than to wait for sickness and then hunt around for a medicine or a doctor. I have been a hearty advocate of Paine's Celery Compound since it was first made, great many years ago, and have yet to hear of a case in which it has failed to fulfill its promise."

EDITOR PAGE GETS BREATHING TIME

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 18.—L. Page and Col. Hickman were arraigned before Judge Hazell last night to answer the charge of contempt resulting from their refusal to state from whom they had received bills of $1000 and $500 denominations.

Judge Hazell said that while inclined to commit both to jail, he would, in view of the constitutional points involved, take their cases under advisement until April 27, by which time he hoped they will have reconsidered their determination not to answer.

WERRED IN ESSAYING ROLE PHELPS DECLINED

With Exposure Staring Him in the Face He Sought to Save Himself by Making a Confession to Half of the Truth.

"Anybody who would put alum in baking powder is not a hero outside of the penitentiary,"—Lieutenant-Governor John A. Lee in a published letter explaining his vote against the bill to repeal the anti-alum law.

The following senators were registered at the Laclede Hotel between 5 and 25: James Orchard, John F. Morton, Charles A. Smith, Frank H. Farris, Frank P. Costello, Bull Matthews, John E. Marshall, P. Collins, Willard F. Schonhabl, W. P. Sullivan and Jessie J. Jewell.

Of these, Charles A. Smith, Frank H. Farris and W. P. Sullivan are numbered among the missing.

Frank Wertz, night clerk of the Laclede Hotel, returned Saturday morning from Jefferson City, where he was a witness before the grandjury yesterday.

Wertz took him to the capital the register and cash book of the hotel for the party at which the "boodle" was distributed was held at the Laclede.

The grandjury kept the books for future reference.

NO ALUM TAINT AT THIS BANQUET

The prominent mention of Lieutenant-Governor John A. Lee's name in connection with the alum steal has caused the recall of an invitation accepted by him to speak at the banquet of the St. George Society at the St. Nicholas Hotel April 23.

The invitation was sent some time ago and his acceptance was promptly forwarded. Mr. Taylor, secretary of the society, acknowledged the acceptance, but the members became uneasy when their guest did not clear himself of the charges made against him.

As the charges grew stronger, the members became more uneasy and Friday Secretary Taylor telephoned Lee at Jefferson City, withdrawing the invitation, setting forth, as the reason for doing so that the action of the proposed guest in the face of the charges made were such as to make his presence undesirable.

The St. George Society is composed of Englishmen and many of the members are prominent in St. Louis.

Another speaker is being sought for the place made vacant.

Ruler of Morocco Sent Four Thoroughbred Arabian Horses, but Three Died on Ship.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 18.—A full-blooded Arabian horse, a present from the Sultan of Morocco to President David R. Francis, died yesterday after a long and painful shipping from this port to St. Louis.

The sea voyage made the animal very sick and he will not be put aboard a train until he has recovered thoroughly.

The Sultan sent four horses to Mr. Francis, but three died on ship.

THE UNION STATION WAS CHOKED

A Car Crosswise In Its "Throat" Caused a Delay on Seven Railroads.

The turning of a switch in the "throat" or entrance of the Union Station train shed at an inopportune moment Saturday morning, caused all eastbound and Chicago trains on seven tracks to be delayed from 30 to 45 minutes.

The switch, located under the baggage car of Big Four Train No. 16, as it was backing into the station at 7:40. The trucks of the car were thrown on different tracks and the engine derailed and half over-turned.

On account of the location Big Four, Chicago, Indianapolis and St. Louis, Illinois & Michigan, Mobile & Ohio, Illinois Central trains were blocked until the wreck was cleared.

Nearly all were fast trains, due to leave the station between 8:30 and 10 o'clock.

As the wrecking train was being brought up to clear the first wreck, it was wrecked 20 yards distant and the work was delayed half an hour.

ATE MEALS OFF MANTEL-PIECE

Constable Overattacked All Mrs. Pease's Property but the Wall Painter for Bill of $37.50.

When Deputy Constable George Anderson attacked the furniture of Mrs. Edwin Pease of 532 Morgan street he left her in much the case of the spanked small boy who has to eat his meals off the mantelpiece.

That is the way in which Mrs. Pease described her situation to Judge Handley when she pointed to him regarding the action of the constable, who cleaned out her dining room.

Then, it is said, an agent of the baking powder concerns, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, recommended to the constable to come into conference with Pease.

It appears that Kelly didn't bite the shells sufficiently well at Jefferson City, nine years ago and it was decided to have some other person wash things there for him.

He agreed that Mrs. Pease intended to move out of the state, the Royal Investment Co. feared the loss of a month's rent of the apartment which she had leased from her and therefore brought an attachment suit.

Although the lessee gave bond, the owner was not satisfied and it was said took forcible possession of the premises.

Mrs. Pease went to Judge Handley for information as to the legality of this summary proceeding and only the tediousness of a suit prevented her from bringing action for damages.

The Royal Investment Co., finding itself in danger, it is said, hastened to compromise and Mrs. Pease was allowed to move in peace.

LIEUT.-GOV. LEE TRIED TO PLAY DEEP DOUBLE GAME AND FAILED

Summary of the Case of Lieut.-Gov. Lee

1—He cast the deciding vote in favor of the trust when the bill was up the first time.

2—He was absent when the bill was up the second time.

3—He tried to get Col. Phelps to act as legislative agent for the trust.

4—He undertook to "double-cross" the trust and the independent manufacturers.

5—When retribution was seeking him out he tried to save himself by confessing to half of the truth.

He Bungled the Attempt to Carry Water on Both Shoulders and His Downfall Was the Result.

ERRED IN ESSAYING ROLE PHELPS DECLINED

With Exposure Staring Him in the Face He Sought to Save Himself by Making a Confession to Half of the Truth.

"Anybody who would put alum in baking powder is not a hero outside of the penitentiary,"—Lieutenant-Governor John A. Lee in a published letter explaining his vote against the bill to repeal the anti-alum law.

Farris sought in various ways to make up with Farris, the man who taunted him with the "alum taint." Farris, a clique of senators who worshipped his legislative ability, rejected all overtures for peace.

When he learned the true inwardness of Lee's proposal, he had said he would like to see "John Lee governor of Missouri."

"Why?" he was asked.

"Because," he replied, "Jack is a good fellow."

But when he learned the true inwardness of Lee's proposal, he had said he intended to reach the goal of his ambition by crying "Stop thief," his admiration turned to hate.

Farris Forced Him to Decide the Tie.

Consumed with the aspiration to become the chief executive of the state, Lee was now running between two fires. To the right, to the left, in front and behind him.

Humiliation was added to insult when Lieutenant-Governor Lee again turned up with the bill to repeal the anti-alum law.

Through a clever maneuver Farris secured a tie vote on the anti-alum bill.

Two senators remained in an ante-room, and when the result was known a shouting and cheering followed.

"Well, Mr. President," said Farris, rising from his seat, "we are waiting for you."

"Very well, sir," said Lee, "I will go to the ballot box."

Lee left Jefferson City for New York on March 15 and did not return until the day of adjournment.

This incident may be chiefly worth recording as showing the shallowness of the threats to "strangle the lobby" when everybody who is familiar with legislative methods knows that the closest days along are required to pass a bill of this magnitude.

Previous to Mr. Lee's departure for the metropolis, where he attended the annual session of the legislature, he had written to the Post-Dispatch publications concerning him.

He was subsequently re-elected to the Senate.

This story was subsequently repeated and supplemented with the suggestion that Lee could tell the story of this legislation if he will.

There was striking testimony to show Lee's favoritism to the trust at the 1891 session.

First, the bill to repeal the anti-alum law died in the committee on criminal jurisprudence.

Second, the chairman of that committee was absent for a week prior to adjournment.

The bill was subsequently referred to the Senate committee on the same subject.

Third, it was not reported and Lee was not present.

Barney Schreiber's Leopard Thought to Have Excellent Chance to Win at Kinloch Today, Though Bernays' Entry Is Best.

BY R. D. WALSH.

KINLOCH RACE TRACK, April 18.—There is an average of ten horses to each race at Kinloch today. These large fields make the work of selecting the winners a more difficult task than usual. There are, moreover, a number of horses that have not started this year and it is almost impossible to learn the condition they are in.

It is always a difficult matter to pick winners at the beginning of the racing season. Some horses of medium quality are fit and ready; others of stakes character are being prepared for future events in their races, and others have never raced at all. It always takes a few weeks to classify them and group them in their proper positions.

There is a stake race carded for Kinloch this afternoon. It is for 2-year-olds and is called the Woodland Trophy. Barney Schreiber has added a valuable piece of plate to this event, and has entered two horses of his own to compete for the prize. Gus Heidorn and Leopard.

Leopard May Not

Start in Woodlands.

Leopard is a colt of considerable ability. March 24 he won half a mile race at Little Rock, easily defeating Don O'Hearn and giving him five pounds. It is doubtful whether Leopard will go to the post to-day, as rumor has it that he is not in the best of condition. Gus Heidorn, Mr. Schreiber's other horse, is an animal of indifferent caliber.

Anrasas Pass, selected, and Ascot, have never started in the track, and consequently I am not in their favor. Dr. C. G. Davis has a strong combination entered in Don O'Hearn, Hask Greshen and St. Agnes II. All these horses are already winners, and two of them are winning stakes at the recent meeting at Little Rock.

All thing considered, I think Dr. Bernays' Leopard has the best chance to win. Audiphone is a "sundae horse," that is entirely overcooked, as was race winner Nester yesterday showed. It is quite possible that he may not be one, two, three today. His underlining is bad and he therefore likes to run fast. He is going at Kinloch to-day will be fast.

Kaffir Should Win Today.

I selected Kaffir to win the Inaugural handicap and I think that my selection will be justified this afternoon. He seems to me to be a really good thing in the mile and a half race. He has been running well in my opinion W. B. Gates will be the contender with Kaffir. Audiphone is a "sundae horse," that is entirely overcooked, as was race winner Nester yesterday showed. It is quite possible that he may not be one, two, three today. His underlining is bad and he therefore likes to run fast. He is going at Kinloch to-day will be fast.

Nearest Victory Was Decisive.

The Inaugural winner, Audiphone, was decisively beaten yesterday in a mile race by Jess Hughes' good mare, Nearest. Under any circumstances Nearest would have won, because she was best, but Dean's ride was Audiphone's best. The overcooked chance of victory that horse may have had. It is hard to understand how Dean should allow himself to be cut off at a walk, and then at a trot, and then at a gallop. It is to be noted in connection with this matter that Dean took good care that such a thing did not happen when he won the Inaugural.

The excuse about "in-running" is mere buncombe, and will not stand. Audiphone's defeat yesterday was, in all probability, the fact that his legs are in a bad condition, and on the ground kick, as was yesterday's, he cannot do himself justice.

Audiphone Has Splints.

If the public had known beforehand that he had "splints," it would have been saved a few thousand dollars.

Another race in which the Bratton colors were unfortunate was the hurdle race. Events like this are the sport in Missouri.

Mr. Bratton after his trip to Europe, thinks that Mrs. Granman was a sulker, that she could not be depended on and that he had absolute faith in the integrity of Hueston. But he could not explain how it was that Hueston, who is a member of Judge Pettus at the second jump.

Kaffir rode a weak finish from Molle in the first race. With any kind of urging he would have won, but he sat on her as if he were status quo allowed Sam Houston to steal the race.

May Not Repeat.

The racing this afternoon will open with a long distance affair at a mile and three-quarters. On Pay the Fiddler's good race the last day, when he won so easily from a fair field, he will probably be the favorite here. Horses of his caliber, however, rarely repeat their victories and I expect to see him defeated this afternoon. He is not in the best of condition, but it is to be noted in connection with this matter that Dean took good care that such a thing did not happen when he won the Inaugural.

The excuse about "in-running" is mere buncombe, and will not stand. Audiphone's defeat yesterday was, in all probability, the fact that his legs are in a bad condition, and on the ground kick, as was yesterday's, he cannot do himself justice.

Reduced Is Hobson's Choice.

I cannot pick anything to beat him, however, and although I do not like him very

That tournament time is approaching in the cocked-hat world, is recalled by the closing of the Junior Association second series Friday night, in a match bowled by the Office Men and Cabannes, on the Acme alleys.

Although the Office Men won four of the five games played, the standard was not affected, the Cabannes having the pennant already won.

The winter was bowled in good form and finished with a 52 team average. The Cabannes did not extend themselves and were satisfied with a team mark of 48.25.

Roger's mark for the season was high, with 57.4 for the five games.

Fischer of the Office Men was in good fettle and rolled 52-26 for the series. Johnson, 54, and Clark, 44, were the best of the others.

The Nodres Juniors defeated the Armstrong twice in the season, 18-16 and 18-10, and would like to arrange games with all teams in the 13 and 14 year old class. For all games address Eugene Gasse, 2828 Texas avenue.

The songbirds will double their music when the boudoirs are caged.

The Missouri boudoir-bund is pretty well broken up in spite of the order to stand pat.

The purpose of legislators, namely, the passing of bills, seems to have been overdone in Missouri.

It is now more than ever apparent that a newspaper ought never to be the organ of a politician.

An American general or an American admiral should always have a written denial in his pocket.

PERMANENT STATUES IN THE PARK.

Bronze statues of Napoleon and Jefferson and a symbolical figure representing Missouri will be erected by the state as permanent memorials of the World's Fair, and placed in Forest Park.

This should suggest the wisdom of more extended work in similar character.

The great event which the World's Fair commemorates—the acquisition of the Louisiana territory—is nowhere adequately represented in statuary.

A fitting memorial of this transaction would be a bronze group representing the chief figures in the negotiation—Napoleon, Talleyrand, Marbois, Jefferson, Livingston and Monroe.

As already suggested by the Post-Dispatch a statue of La Clede, the founder of St. Louis, should occupy a place in the park.

Mr. Stevens has suggested that permanent features of the World's Fair be left in Forest Park. What could be more acceptable than such statuary? Nothing could contribute more to the beauty and usefulness of the park. Besides, if the aim is, as it must be, to return the park to the city in a condition as desirable as when it was granted for a World's Fair site, nothing would be more acceptable than statues of the heroes named.

One of the objections urged to service in the Municipal Assembly is the small compensation. But Capt. Wm. R. Hodges, who has completed an honorable and useful record of service in the City Council, was given a complimentary dinner last night by representative citizens of all parties as a mark of appreciation of his good work for the city. Compensation is measured by the standard of the man. To a man of sense, with sound views of life and its desirable rewards, there is rich compensation in the esteem and commendation of his fellow citizens for useful public services. It is a compensation that cannot be measured in mere money and cannot be taken away by the accidents of fortune.

SOCIETY AND SOCIETY.

Notwithstanding the hostility of rivals and their attempts to weaken his authority, Harry Lehr is easily the first gentleman in America.

He gave proof of his genius at the Vanderbilt-Nelson wedding. A woman in the party threw a cane at him. It missed him by some ten feet. "Whereupon Mr. Lehr, throwing himself on his hands and feet, like a well trained retriever, bounded to the spot where the can lay, seized it between his teeth and hobbled back with it to the woman, at whose feet he dropped the cane, after the barking like a dog."

This feat was greatly appreciated and the guests made him repeat it several times.

People on the fringe of things cannot do better than study the marvelous career of this brilliant wine drummer and social leader. His wit is simply inexhaustible. He does the funniest things to make society laugh. They make other people laugh, too. If you want to know how to conduct yourself in good society and how to make yourself agreeable and a popular man just do as Lehr does. Of course, if you are not a genius you can't hope to rival him, but society is gracious and tolerant and always reward well-meaning endeavor.

Any "scheme" to lighten the bore of life, anything which reduces the awful burden of idleness and helps to stifle the yawns, anything that keeps the realities at bay, will be welcome. Society will reward you for boons like these.

The new bonds of Louisville have all been taken by Louisville investors. They are in denominations of $100, $500 and $1000, draw 5% per cent interest and are exempt from city taxation.

EDUCATION IN CUBA.

In his last message to the Cuban Congress, President Palma dwelt hopefully on the condition of the school system established during the American occupation.

There are now on the island 1373 public schools and a total of 320 school rooms. The enrollment this year is 148,276, of which 30,654 are males and 67,672 are females. The average attendance in 1902-1903 was 116,773.

Besides these public schools there are 422 private institutions with 25,675 students. In the higher schools of this kind there are 1018 pupils and 854 in the university.

It is too much to expect at this early day that the instruction and discipline are all that could be desired, but a good beginning is made. With the help of the Americans, the Cubans recovered much of the time lost under the feeble and medieval rule of Spain and if they exercise patience, intelligence and energy they can work out a perfected system of education equal to the best.

President Palma rightly places the responsibility upon the people. "The object will not be gained," he says, "without the co-operation of all the elements which make up our population, some by exercising the initiative which belongs to them by virtue of their higher degree of culture, and others who, unfortunately, are few in number, by following the counsels and directions of those more capable."

The opportunity is before the Cubans. It is for them to take advantage of it, and prove by thorough public education that at least one self-governing Spanish-American community knows what self-government really means.

Boards and roomers have had serious trouble this year in finding houses where there is sufficient warmth. The high prices for fuel have caused trouble and suffering in all directions. Do we hear any more of that briquette with which the coal monopolists were to be hit?

DR. ROOSEVELT'S AMBITION.

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican says there is "a suggestion current among Harvard men" that "the President of the United States cherishes a strong ambition, when he has finished his term in the White House which he expects the American people are to secure to him, to become president of Harvard."

Roosevelt is a perpetual surprise, so that there is surprising in this astonishing suggestion.

Johnson became president of a university when he left public life. Robert E. Lee spent his last years as president of William and Mary, and Grover Cleveland attached himself to Princeton at the conclusion of his second term in the White House, but the quiet, laborious duties of an educator are not commonly alluring to the statesman (or politician) out of a job. To such a man teaching would seem to be as flat as ginger pop after a lifelong devotion to old crow. Least of all would such a career be thought of as the object of the strenuous President of the United States.

Nevertheless, nobody need be surprised if Mr. Roosevelt does just this surprising thing. His orbit has never yet been calculated. Indeed, it is probably incalculable, even by himself, and if he takes the Harvard presidency in his eccentric course he will make things exceedingly interesting for the faculty and students, to say nothing of his contribution to the gayety of an astonished world.

Lieutenant-Governor Lee's conduct in ignoring the subpoena of Prosecuting Attorney Hughes of Kansas City and evading a summons to testify before the St. Louis grandjury is inexplicable from any reputable standpoint. He has placed himself outside of the pale of respectful consideration as a public officer or a law-abiding citizen. His connection with the briquette scandal and his place must be defined by the action of the grandjurors investigating it, and the prosecuting officers. He is now a disgrace to his office and a cause of reproach to the state.

SOME UNFAMILIAR FACTS.

The Bureau of Statistics publishes statistics which make some "great powers" look small in a commercial sense and elevates several little powers to the rank and dignity of greatness.

Thus, the foreign trade of little Belgium is greater than that of Austria-Hungary, Italy or Russia.

Holland's trade is greater than that of Austria-Hungary and Russia combined, while her imports exceed those of France.

Other interesting facts are these:

Belgium's imports have exceeded her exports every year since 1881, except in 1884.

The imports of France have exceeded exports every year since 1876.

Holland's imports have exceeded her exports every year as far back as statistics go.

The United Kingdom's exports exceeded her imports every year from 1801 to 1853. Since that date her imports have exceeded exports.

The trade of the United States was inferior to that of France until 1887 and to that of Germany until 1892. Since 1887 we have surpassed France every year. Since 1892 it is practically a tie between the United States and Germany.

Our exports exceeded those of Great Britain in 1901 and we are now the first exporting country in the world.

The combined revenues of the world amount to about six billion, of which the United States collects a little over one-ninth.

We have a surplus of $90,000,000. The rest of the world reports a net deficit of $70,000,000.

The national debts of the world amount to more than thirty-one billion dollars. Of this we owe less than the thirty-second part. The interest charge on these debts is a billion and a quarter. Of this we pay $27,000,000, or about one-forty-fifth of the whole.

The average interest rate on these debts is 4 per cent. Ours is less than 3 per cent. Half of the debt draws only 2 per cent. No other country in the world can float a 2 per cent bond.

The annual interest charge per capita in the United States is $5. In Great Britain it is $2.75, in Italy $3.83, in France $6.25.

The interest on the French debt alone amounts to more than we pay yearly for pensions, navy and interest on our debt combined.

Finally, we have more gold by one-third than any other country in Europe except France.

These facts are of the sort not generally known. But they mean more than all the facts of armaments and diplomacy.

A bill has been passed by the New York General Assembly to abolish the grade crossings in the borough of Brooklyn, of which there are nearly 200. Instead of keeping up with the general movement to abolish these death traps, St. Louis is permitting an increase in their number. Every grade crossing is a constant menace to human life.

Louisville city bonds compete with United States bonds by being made exempt from city taxes, and the scheme seems to have worked well for a long time, not only making the sale of the bonds easier, but keeping Louisville money at home.

It is remarkable that during Uncle Henry Zieghein's administration, when we had "a moon yet," the cost of city lights was the highest in our municipal history—nearly $100,000.

The President has done some fishing but no hunting in Yellowstone Park. It is hard to understand how so strenuous a person could be still long enough to wait for a bite.

As the barkeepers are organizing to become total abstainers we may presently hear that the butchers have established a vegetarian association.

With desertions from the United States navy reaching 300 a month the German papers ought easily to get even with Dewey.

Every good citizen will countenance the proper plan for preserving World's Fair features in the park.

POST-DISPATCH SNAP SHOTS.

It is possible that a policeman can blush as well as snore.

The can't-wait-for-June young people who are getting married will at least receive the indorsement of President Roosevelt.

Why does the young woman working the piano and singing "The Holy City" always scream "Je-ru-sa-LUM! Je-ru-sa-LUM!"

The primitive Indian nose paint discovered near St. Louis is very inferior to that which the children of the forest got from the white man.

The widow or the maiden whose professed lover wants to borrow money from her has a warning which she should never fail to profit by.

The St. Louis horse that has contracted a habit of visiting saloons has an owner who does not drink. This is a profound mystery. Has some old bum, in getting reincarnated, found his way into this hilarious animal?

It is a great mistake to suppose that Uncle Russell Sage would have had a "better time" if he had been a smoker. No doubt the smoker's life is delightful, even though he is always borrowing matches, but Uncle Russell may have enjoyed himself as much in accumulating millions as if he had been an inveterate smoker. Really, the majority of men do what pleases them most, whether it is smoking, fishing, or needless money-making.

POST-DISPATCH ANSWERS.

CONSTANT READER.—No premium on your Mexican coin.

BABY'S FRIEND.—Your letter has been referred to the human race.

SOLDIER.—Apply to Col. Goodwin, administration building, for a copy of the U.S. Army Manual.

KODAK.—For information in regard to World's Fair snapshots and permits apply to Official Photographer Burns, administration building.

DUBIOUS.—Most Rev. Diomedes Falsonio, Archbishop of La Plata, is apostolic delegate of the Roman Catholic Church in Washington, D. C.

E. F. EATON.—The President can serve any number of successive terms for which he is elected. (This question has been answered 100 times.)

SUBSCRIBER.—Persons with rooms to rent to dedication visitors should apply to the Business Men's League, Mercantile Club building, Seventh and Locust.

G. F. A.—"A" wins if he makes his two points before B makes his one point, regardless of the score.

ALTONIAN.—If in 1900 you declared your intention of becoming a member of the Altonian Club, you have only to wait until the expiration of five years to go into court and complete your naturalization.

J. J. RYAN.—Scagliola (Italian) is hard, polished plaster, imitating marble, granite or other veined, mottled or colored stone. It is made of powdered gypsum and glue or linseed oil, colored and variegated in various ways.

Appreciation of Mr. Folk.

From the Kansas City Times.

The political question that is developing against Circuit Attorney Folk in St. Louis is thoroughly characteristic of the men who control Missouri politics.

Although he is doing more for good government than all the rest of the officers of the state combined, he is working against jealous politicians as well as influential criminals.

Fortunately he has the support of the public.

WAITING.

"Serene, I fold my hands and wait,
Nor care for wind nor tide nor sea;
I have no more 'gainst time or fate,
For lo! my own shall come to me."
Says Burroughs, John. A lazy skater
In truth this Burroughs guy must be!

"I fold my hands." A pretty way
To "con" the boss—a lovely crede
To follow out, day after day,
To satisfy human need!
A likely coin with which to pay
For room and clothes and proper feed!

"For what avail's th' eager pace?"
This Burroughs asks. Ah, it were sweet
To ramble on with smiling face,
To one would walk through Easy Street,
Who, he who, in such a case,
Would pony up for bread and meat?

The Burroughs plan is all O. K.
For those who can afford the style,
But until life shall change its way
And men on mendicancy knail,
We'll have to keep on day by day,
Struggling to make our little pile.

Getting Ready.

World's Fair Dedication Day is rapidly approaching. Governors of other states and many high dignitaries even now are overhauling their wardrobes and packing their grips to prepare for that great occasion and all throughout the surrounding country the villagers and yeomen are looking up excursion rates and counting their small change.

Tens of thousands of them will be here, and every mother's son of them will want a place to sleep.

Where will that place be?
Where will these sturdy citizens lay their aching heads after tramping to and from the Fair grounds?—for we who are on the spot have no idea that they can be accommodated with a ride. If it is chilly or if it rains, they cannot sleep in the streets. The empty box cars will all be utilized and every vacant lot in the city will be covered with bunks and cots. The boarding houses, rooming houses and hotels will be packed to suffocation, and many a housewife will turn an honest penny by letting out her front room during the dedication. But still there will be people roaming the streets looking for a place to sleep.

Where will that place be?
We ask it again, for it is a question St. Louis must answer. Where will that place be? Will nobody reply? Then we will tell you.

We are organizing a syndicate to buy up all the barber chair privileges for dedication week. After every other nook and cranny in the city shall have been filled, the barber-chair syndicate will fling its banner to the breeze proclaiming, "Come, ye weary and heavy laden, and be at rest at $2 per piece!"

We expect to rent every barber chair in the city. We are determined that our visitors shall have accommodations. We do not propose that any one of them shall go sleepless or unskinned. They shall repose in our barber chairs, and, if not there, in the tubs. We will let no sleepy man escape.

To Thick.

Had Peter, the apostle, lived
In Nineteen-hundred-three,
And sought to walk upon the waves,
As once in Galilee.

He would have had no trouble with

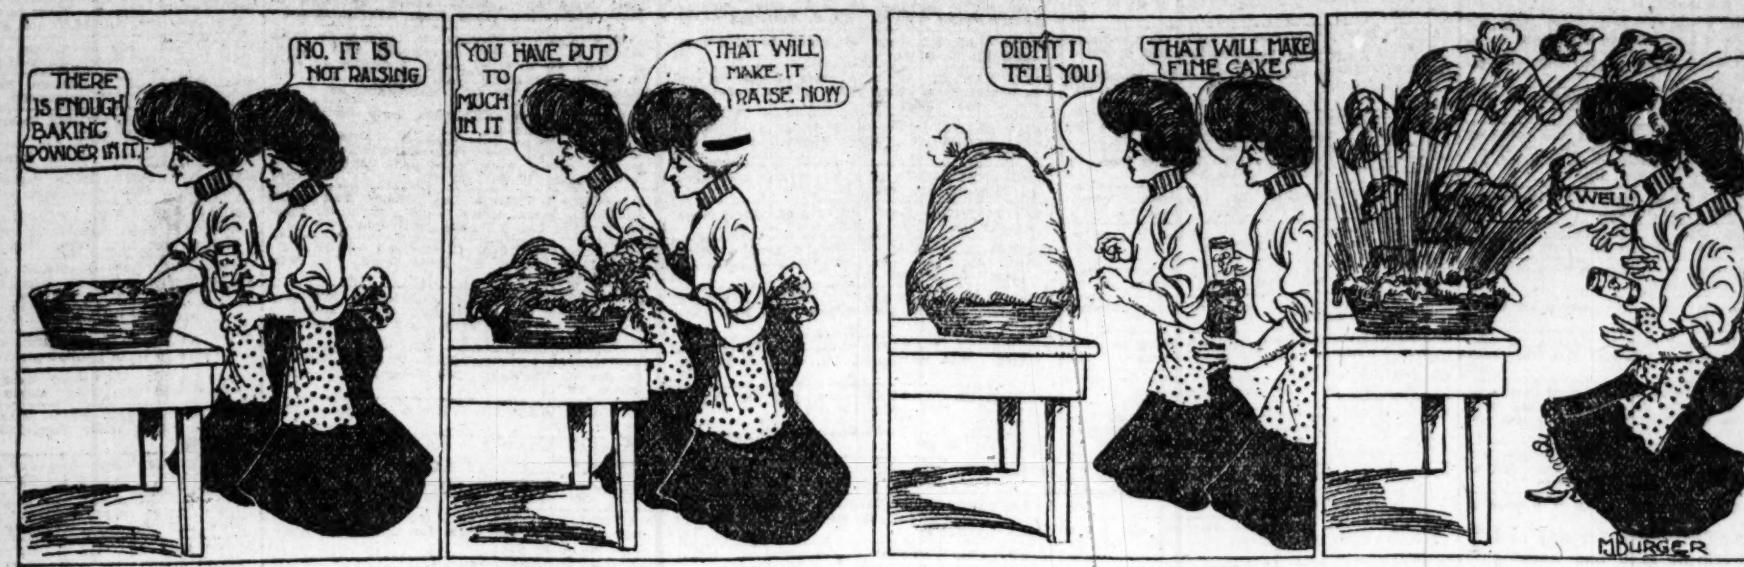

The Mississippi. You
Know that he never could have sunk,

If he had wanted to.

Collecting city revenue from locomotives, automobiles and other similar conveyances is a sort of case of locomotor I-Tax-y.

HARRY-CARRY.

A noble young fellow named Harry. Extravagant Harry did marry. O, the bills she incurred! Of collectors a herd Assembled to harry poor Harry. With patience extraordinary He sought to evade and to parry The demands of the Law. Till he finally saw That he never could carry this Harry! And therefore poor, helpless Harry Received him no longer to tarry In a valley of trouble. Full of due bills, and so Went out to commit Hari-Kari. —New Orleans Times-Democrat.

MISSOURI ODD FACTS.

It is a grumpy rural mail carrier that does not come home from his daily run without some token of regard from the farmers along his route, ranging from a setting of hens' eggs to a bushel of feed.

A woodchopper working near Louisiana boiled a gallon of coffee the other day and drank it all off at one sitting. In a few minutes he was completely paralysed. It required an hour's work by a physician to save his life.

The Test of Pure Silver

From Behind the Veil.

By Andrew J. Arthur.

"It is an out-of-the-ordinary novel. . . . Of historical interest. . . . A quite readable romance and one that is apt to be finished when once begun. . . ."—St. Louis Republic.

"It is a tale of love and adventure which ends happily. . . . Its descriptions of out door life is one of the best things in the book."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"We conscientiously recommend it as being worthy of purchase and perusal."—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

"Another Missouri book. . . . It is an interesting story of life in the long ago among the Toltecs. . . ."—The Columbia Missouri Herald.

"A romance of the mysterious civilization of the Toltecs in Mexico. . . . of decided historical interest."—The Christian Evangelist, St. Louis, Mo.

"To Andrew J. Arthur. . . . In appreciation of his story, 'From Behind the Veil.' In all cordiality."—ROBERT J. BURDETTE.

"It is a book one can hardly shut until he has completely finished reading it."

"Dr. J. K. BAUDUY, Sr., St. Louis, Mo."

"I can truthfully say I enjoyed the story very much." MRS. LUCY K. WALKER, President of the Junior Union of Sunday School Teachers of St. Louis, 4277 Lucky street, St. Louis, Mo.

This is a new book, now in its second edition, brought out by the Christian Publishing Company of St. Louis, Mo., and for sale at all the book stores at $1.25.

CONUNDRUMS.

Elizabeth, Liz, Betsey and Bess went over the mountain to seek a bird's nest. They found a bird's nest with five eggs in it; they each took one and left four? It is one girl.

What is it that goes round and round and never once stops? The earth.

On what day of the year do women talk the least? On the shortest day, of course.

When does a man's hair resemble a packing box? When it stands on end.

What is it that occurs once in a minute, twice in a moment, and not once in a hundred years? The letter "m."

Why is chloroform like Mendelssohn? Because it is, the greatest of modern composers.

Great numbers do we use despise, But yet, at last they find,
Without our help in many things They might as well be blind.—Answer-Spectacles.

A NEW BOSS.

Backlot: Newman has sold his house, I understand.
Subbubs: Nonsense!
Backlot: Why, he told me this morning that he didn't own it any more.
Subbubs: No; they engaged a servant girl a few days ago.—Philadelphia Press.

Her Maid: Mr. Chumpleigh is at the door, ma'am. What shall I tell him?
Miss Marie: If he has a box of candy under his arm tell him I'm at home, but if you don't see the box, I'm out.

MRS. PAGE SNUBS YOUNG DIPLOMATS

Declines to Invite Foreign Attachés Who are Remiss in Social Duties.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, April 18.—Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page entertained at a hunt ball last night in honor of her daughters, Miss Florence Field and Mrs. Preston Gibson of Chicago.

The dancing party, which was preceded by a dinner company, was limited to about seventy guests. The men wore red coats and the girls broad ribbon sashes to match.

Something of a stir was created when it was found that Mrs. Page declined to invite any of the attaches of the foreign legations or embassies to her house, thus cutting out some of the most eligible dancing partners.

It has been intimated that Mrs. Page's objection to young foreigners is that they are not diligent enough in showing their appreciation of the constant favors shown to them.

This will be a shock to the young diplomats who have been accustomed to receive nothing but homage from the mothers of marriageable girls.

In fact, before a new bachelor member of the diplomatic corps has time to unpack his luggage in Washington he is besieged by invitations to dinner, luncheons and tea.

One of the most popular men declared that he had not dined unlived since his first or second day in Washington.

Mrs. Page's coldness was attributed to the young diplomats as Miss Kean related to invite men to her social functions who had not been punctilious in their social duties.

PRODUCE MARKET.

Weather had improved and so had quality of receipts. The market consequently was in better condition. Most of the offerings came in early, though the market was slow. The market is open and off stock and shows slow sale. Choice cotton, $1.00 per lb.; white cotton, $1.00 per lb.; Mississippi in 6-gal. cases, $3 to $4 for choices and $2 for held and grain; 6-gal. cases, $1.00 per lb.; 5-gal. cases, $1.00 per lb.; 10-gal. cases, $1.00 to $1.25 for good to fancy; Arkansas 6-gal., $1.00 to $1.25, according to quality; Alabama 6-gal., $1.00 to $1.25; 10-gal. cases, $1.00 to $1.25 for choices; Texas, $1.00; $1.25 to $1.50 for choices; $0.80 to $1.00 for held over and damaged; Louisiana 6-gal. cases, $1.00 to $1.25; 10-gal. cases, $1.00 to $1.25.

(Prices quoted are for 100 lbs from jobbers, and NOT to consumers.)

STRAWBERRIES—Weather more favorable and the demand better for choice, some low grade, others taken away slowly as low grades. Receipts liberal, most of it arriving in good time, but considerably earlier over. Texas strawberries, mainly small, some green and red, and sold at $1.00 to $1.25 up to $2.00 and choices sound worth $3 per lb. case. Alabama, earl. to mid-June, $1.00 to $1.25; 10-gal. cases, $1.00 to $1.25 at lowest prices. Mississippi per 8-gal. case only fair in quality, at $1.25 to $1.50 to $1.75.

WASTE SOLD IN THE BLACK HILLS

Fabulous Wealth in Shifting Sands Below the Smelters.

THERE LIE TAILINGS FROM MANY MILLS

Now It Is Said Much of This Can Be reclaimed and Capitalists Will Endeavor to Recover These Lost Millions.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DEADWOOD, S. D., April 13.—For 25 years the big mines of the Black Hills have poured one stream of gold into the coffers of the world, and at the same time they have poured another into the little creek which passes through Deadwood, by this stream to be washed down and settled on the "flats" along its banks for a distance of 15 or 20 miles below the site of the immense smelters and mines engaged in reducing the ore to commercial gold. Part of this waste gold may have even been washed down the Cheyenne river into the Missouri, down that muddy stream, past Sioux City, Omaha and Kansas City, and on into the Mississippi, by which route some gold may have reached the Mexican gulf.

But many million dollars' worth of the little gold particles are deposited along the banks of God's own Deadwood creek and Whitewood creek, in the Black Hills of South Dakota, and even now a number of different companies are preparing to make attempts at recovering this wealth.

A conservative estimate of what the waste mines are worth is $50,000,000. This is, in fact, the minimum value placed by first-class mining engineers on the gold which is now lying along Gold run and Deadwood and Whitewood creeks and many smaller drifts and streams from Homestake and other mines. And the owner of the lands upon which the gold settled now owns the gold.

The fact that the device is a popular one and that it attracts attention is peculiar, it seems to no other article of like nature that have been placed in banks already located:

MRS. STEWART GETS DIVORCE

Descendant of the Late Judge Black, Once Chief Justice of Mississippi, Free Again.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D.—April 18.—Mrs. John A. Stewart, a descendant of the late Judge Black, who was once chief justice of the supreme court of Mississippi and later was prominent for many years in political affairs at Washington, was today granted a divorce. Her former husband is a New York banker.

By the terms of the decree, he will be required to pay the plaintiff $5 a month for her support. Cruelty was the ground upon which the divorce was granted.

During her residence here Mrs. Stewart attracted more attention locally than any other member of the divorce colony, chiefly because of her excessively sympathetic nature.

George Bear, a full-blood Sioux Indian, at the October term of the federal court in this city, was tried and convicted of murder. Mrs. Stewart championed the cause of Bear and, during his trial, was a conspicuous figure in the court room. When he was convicted and sentenced to prison for the government, Mrs. Stewart, without delay, started a movement for the commutation of the Indian's sentence from death to life imprisonment. Mrs. Stewart appealed directly to President Roosevelt, who is a friend of her family, but he refused to commute the sentence.

Ira Wilkoff and Grace Morris of Litchfield, Ill., were married at Clayton Friday. Ira P. C. Hough and Miss Hazel C. Eddy of 211 Franklin avenue, St. Louis, were the others married there.

"WILL YOU HELP" CLEAN THE CITY?

St. Louisans to Be Flagged With This Question From the Street Cars.

AND "I WILL HELP" BADGES WILL ANSWER

Strong Effort Is to be Made to Make the City Immaculate For the Dedication of the World's Fair.

The women's clubs are joining in the movement of the Civic Improvement League to have the city immaculate for the Fair dedication. James A. Reardon, chairman of the cleaning days committee, says that the Pioneers' Club, the Ladies' Friday Musical Club and the Twentieth Century Club have signified their intention of aiding in the work.

The improvement league aims to have all streets, alleys and vacant lots cleared of rubbish and refuse by the time visitors begin to arrive. The schools and the Salvation Army are helping in the undertaking. It is desired that the general public should be aroused. To this end it has been decided that small badges, which read "Will you help?" are to float from all the street cars in St. Louis during the week prior to the ceremonies. Large signs, which read "I will help," will also be issued for general distribution.

The clergymen of the various churches will speak to their congregations on Sunday that all possible help be given toward making the city more presentable.

She was at the Four Courts Monday evening at the instance of Mrs. Windmiller, who, it is claimed, that he assaulted at Twelfth and Olive streets, and for which he was struck $100.

Justice Tracy fined King $10 and costs, and as he had no money and lost his position because of the incident, King was in fact sent to the workhouse when his sister arrived.

Miss King found the marshal's office at Four Courts closed, but she called on Deputy Marshal Ratchford and informed him and had him accompany her to the Four Courts, where she got an order for her brother and then had him released. He will accompany her home.

One Boy Fatally Injured and Two Others Seriously Hurt in a Trio of Accidents.

Daniel Casey, aged 8 years, a son of Mrs. Daniel Casey of 308 South Ninth street, lost his life as the result of a street car accident. Friday night he was knocked down and dragged over the granite at South Broadway and Alton streets. Both of his legs were cut off. He was taken to the City Hospital, where he died yesterday morning.

Carl Easton, aged 6 years, of 1512 Singleton street, was knocked down by a northbound Beloitontaine car at Eighth and Singleton street Friday night. The feeder was in his clothing and dragged him considerable distance. It was said at St. Mary's Hospital that he would likely live.

Henry Bittle, aged 15 years, a negro living at 1218 Poplar street, was dragged from a westbound Laclede avenue car near the corner of Locust street yesterday by a crew of white boys. He was struck on the head with a brick and left lying on the track. At the City Hospital his condition was said to be serious. He was removed from the hospital to his home.

A PESTIFEROUS GERM

Burrows Up the Scalp Into Dandruff and Saps the Hair's Vitality.

People who complain of falling hair as a rule do not know that it is the result of dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite burrowing up the scalp as it digs down to the sheath in which the hair is fed in the scalp. Before long the hair root is shriveled up and the hair drops out. If the work of the germ is not destroyed hair keeps thinning till baldness comes. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ, and until now there has been no hair medication that would do it; but today dandruff is easily eradicated by Newbro's Herpicide, which makes hair glossy and soft as silk.

CAHOKY, THE LOST CITY OF ILLI-NOY, DISCOVERED BY POST-DISPATCH EXPLORERS

After a Terrible Tramp of Some 600 Miles This Ancient Metropolis of the Egyptians Was Located by the Hardy Trio Something Like a League Sou-Sou-East of the City of Eaststlouis.

BY WILLIS L. CLANAHAN.

Scarcely had the Post-Dispatch Society of Explorers returned from their perilous expedition into the wilds of St. Louis County, where they discovered, after enduring untold hardships, the source of the River des Peres, than they received a telegram from the Smithsonian Institution urging them to attempt to locate the site of the lost city of Cahoky.

Ah, here was a task after the Explorers' own hearts! What could be more fascinating than to go in search of some ancient metropolis which had been swallowed up ages ago—either gnawed down by the relentless tooth of time or buried in some mighty cataclysm?

The Optimist, the Pessimist and the Office Boy crowded around the telegram, luxuriating over the details of the fascinating journey in store for them, and word was telegraphed that the expedition would be organized without delay.

To those unfamiliar with ancient history it may be well to state here that the city of Cahoky was founded by a band of Egyptians about 1200 B. C., during the reign of King Rameses II.

Just why they happened to seek the great country now known as USA we cannot be certain, because the records differ, but by some historians it is claimed that a mighty revolution took place in Egypt because many of the natives, considering King Rameses II a 'joke,' saying that he was no more fit to be king than Grover Cleveland is to be Ping Pong Commissioner for the Universe, persisted in singing a ribald song commencing:

In the days of old Rameses
This joke it had pareis.
Are you on?
Are you on?

By the King and his adherents this was considered to be nothing less than a deadly, though veiled insult to their majesty, and it finally led to a determined strike which but disrupted the kingdom. Then, it is said, that most body of Egyptians were exiled and found their way across the ocean to USA, the vast continent beyond the Atlantic. Here, in the great subdivision go when they commanded and eat out of their hands without fear.

Sealing that the natives were of a whitish color and had a language of their own (the favorite word in which seemed to be "specialbrew," which was displayed in golden letters on almost every corner), the explorers sought out the great shiek of the country, one Judgesilasook, in the Missouri language known as mayor.

"If anybody in this strange place can give us any information concerning Cahoky," said the optimist, "it should be the shiek."

Perceiving that the explorers were demoralized of some far country, and that they bore nothing but good will to his subjects,

A Jumpingbug.

Judgesilasook received them with the utmost deference and bade them welcome to Illi-Noy. But not one word could he tell them about the lost city of Cahoky.

In the first place, the shiek knew but little concerning the language of Missouri, which the explorers spoke, and the explorers knew less of the Sucker language, which was the native tongue of Judgesilasook, the shiek.

Communication was difficult, therefore, but finally he made the visitors understand that in the archives of the stathalle (in the language of Missouri, "the city hall") there were some slight references to an ancient city known as Cahoky, but where it was or had been the shiek had not the slightest idea.

Thanking him for his courtesy, and leaving with him, as a token of friendship, a separating serenade. They rose half exhausted, and the Optimist and the Pessimist regaled themselves with large quantities of "skee," the celebrated breakfast food, while the Office Boy went in search of game.

Before he had gone far he came across a gigantic specimen of the caloptenus spreitus, a savage animal which can jump higher than the tallest tree, and which is regarded by the natives as particularly ferocious. But the Office Boy was game, and soon brought him to earth with a bullet through his left eye. After breakfasting on the luscious white meat, the explorers stripped off 50 pounds more of it and left the carcass to bleach in the sun.

The day was intensely warm. The "specialbrew" soon gave out. Before night the remainder of the "skee" had been consumed, and they were still pursued by great flocks of fierce ornithorhynchus, which kept calling and screaming: "Pleaseremt! Pleaseremt!" but the explorers were not to be daunted. After having tramped 50 miles through the forest they knocked off at 5 o'clock p.m. and "called it a day." To explore more than 50 miles a day would have been against the spirit of Judgesilasook and "specialbrew."

But no! These explorers started out to find the lost city of Cahoky, and they were determined to find it or bust.

Five days longer did the Optimist, the Pessimist and the Office Boy wander through the wilderness of south of Eaststlouis, and a human being of any kind did they encounter—not a single sign of civilization, past or present. Again and again did they study their charts and papryi, Judgesilasook, the great shiek of Eaststlouis, a settlement in the Illi-Noy country, receiving Rausmitem, the founder of the Lost City of Cahoky, former valet of King Rameses II of Egypt, and his Four Old Pals, after the Lost City had been rediscovered by the Post-Dispatch Explorers, after having been unheard of since the year 79 A. D.

apparently, that it might have belonged to Adam—and sitting beside it, on a stone, just as the boy had said, was a human being.

Very cautiously the Optimist and the Pessimist approached him. But he paid no attention to them, though he saw them coming. He merely worked his jaws steadily and occasionally spat a quantity of dark brown liquid onto the ground in front of him.

He was old and bent, and his amaranthine whiskers trailed to the ground. His eyes were gray and sharp and his face like parchment.

In the matter of years and whiskers Rip Van Winkle was not a marker to this ancient and hirsute person.

Evidently he was the Oldest Inhabitant—and the only one. He regarded the Optimist and the Pessimist long and earnestly. Finally he exclaimed gruffly, as nearly as it can be translated into the language of Misr:

"Well-wot-tell-do-youse-two-guys-want-around-here?"

Dumbfounded at this startling query, the Optimist and the Pessimist could only stare at each other for a couple of minutes in amazement.

"Now, wouldn't that ruffle your whiskers?" exclaimed the Pessimist. "Who is this old gazaboo, anyhow? Let me ask him."

"Tell us, we pray thee, Old Lace Curtains, Old Spangles, Old Amaranthine Locks, who are you?" demanded the Optimist.

"Aw, gwan wid yes," answered Old Whiskers. "ouse yours ought to know me. I'm de daddy of Cahoky."

"Chee! Listen to de pipe!" screamed the Office Boy, rolling on the ground in laughter.

"Cheese it, young one!" said Old Whiskers. "What I say is de troot, do whole troot an' nuttin' but de troot. I am indeed to get, if possible, a better idea of the direction they should take. One whole day they rested from their journey and did nothing but think.

That, as they related afterward, was by far the hardest part of the undertaking.

Had they been less adventurous or less spirited, they would have given up the quest for the lost city of Cahoky in sheer despair. In fact, we may here admit without violating any confidence that at noon on the twelfth day they were on the point of abandoning the expedition and returning to the land of "specialbrew" and the blood-thirsty Loco-Motif, when all of a sudden the Office Boy, who had gone ahead looking for game (rapa preferred) came trudging back through the forest and fell screaming at the feet of the Optimist.

It was fifteen minutes before he could regain his breath, which had been lost in the woods. The Pessimist finally found it and returned it to the frightened boy. After clearing his breath back into place and adjusting his necktie he was prepared to answer questions.

"What's the matter?" demanded the Optimist.

"She!" said the boy, "but dat feller throveth an awfu scare into me!"

"What fellow?" demanded the Optimist.

"Whe, dat old geester stittin' up yonder in de woods on a rock," answered the Office Boy.

"Gee on! You're nutty," scornfully replied the Optimist. "This trip has put your think-work on the bum."

"No-cross my heart—I'm tellin' de trut', the boy exclaimed. "Dols on de dead level."

Now thoroughly interested, both the Optimist and the Pessimist clutched their revolvers, prepared to defend themselves, if necessary, and then pulled out their Office Boy held his sides and irreverently made repeated allusions to a "ope," and the unwanted consumption of "dope."

"Well, forhevins sake," exclaimed the Optimist, when he had sufficiently recovered, "what have you been doing all this time?"

"They come to a little opening in the forrest, and looked around. There they behold ancient structure—a building so old, operally, that it might have belonged to Adam—and sitting beside it, on a stone, just as the boy had said, was a human being.

"Well, you're the limit!" said the Pessimist. "Don't you know that Cahoky has been lost for 1000 years, and that we came here in search of it?"

"Cahoky lost? Aw, gwan—you're nutty!" exclaimed Old Whiskers. "Cahoky has been right here all de time, an' so have I."

"How far is this place—providing it is the place—from Eaststlouis?" asked the Optimist.

"Three miles," said Old Whiskers.

"Three miles!" exclaimed the Optimist. "Why, we have traveled 600 miles in the last 12 days to get here. You must be off your dip."

"Nix, young feller," said Old Whiskers. "It's your dad's off your pyramid. Youse guys must a' traveled in a circle."

And so, the explorers found, upon further investigation, they had. However, having attained the object for which their expedition had been organized, they determined to start back at once to Eaststlouis and "specialbrew." After a long parley they persuaded Old Whiskers to accompany them, and before nightfall the whole party were standing in what the Eaststlouisans call a "barrhume," mopping up the native wine, which bubbled and sparkled and lent them exceeding great cheer.

"Wait a minute!" said Old Whiskers, after he had gotten his joints limbered.

"I'm de kid here back an' tell 'em day old Rausmitem—dat's me name, gentz says fer 'em to hurry up."

So while the Office Boy was gone on his mission the Optimist and the Pessimist took Old Whiskers to what the Eaststlouisans call a "tontorialparlor" and had his whiskers trimmed and his face shaved, which wrought in him so great a change that he had to feel himself to see if he was all there.

When the four Old Pals put in their appearance, they too, were primed with "specialbrew," and that evening the whole party repaid to the stathalle to pay their respects to the great shiek of the country, Judgesilasook. He received them with much dignity, and for the first time in the history of Eaststlouis the true of Cahoky was made known.

There were large doings in Eaststlouis that night in honor of an event so striking, and early the next morning (their mission now having been fully accomplished) the explorers, after absorbing large quantities of "skee," the marvelous breakfast food, returned to Missouri and civilization to make a report of their perilous expedition to the Smithsonian Institution, and to map out another program of exploration and discovery.

MERGER LAWYERS NETTED MR. KNOX

Attorney General Had Feeling in Trial of the Securities Case.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Attorney General Knox has a good deal more personal feeling in the case against the Northern Securities Co. than is usually shown by lawyers for the government. He has a little grievance against the lawyers who have been advising J. Pierpont Morgan and those associated with him in that enterprise.

This feeling arises from two facts. The first is that the New York lawyers have sneered at him. They have insinuated that the Pittsburgh is rather an ordinary lawyer, only qualified to practice easy law before minor court judges.

Papers in the case have been prepared, it is said, by Bishop Coleman of Delaware, in which diocese the Rev. Mr. Francis is canonically resident.

It was Bishop Coleman who instituted the order, not at his own desire, but upon the appeal of the present minister-general.

The Rev. Mr. Francis was ordained deacon by Bishop Lee of Delaware, but advanced to the priesthood by Bishop Scobough of New Jersey, who acted for Bishop Lee, the latter being ill.

Another fact is that these same lawyers complained when the trial began about what they were pleased to term the cavalier conduct of the attorney-general in not letting them know beforehand what he was about to do what he did.

Is Ever Loyal to His Clients.

This complaint, friends of Mr. Knox declare, has netted him more than anything else has done. He takes it as an affront of their belief that he is a lawyer who will betray the secret of his client. The giving of such information he would regard as a breach of faith. He is very sensitive on anything of that kind.

When the charge was made that he was attorney for the Carnegie company after he became attorney-general he refused to deny it, because he considered that it would be an insult to President McKinley. He became very angry when he was told Senator Hoar had informed the Senate committee on the judiciary that he had denied the charge.

"Well, forhevins sake," exclaimed the Optimist, when he had sufficiently recovered, "what have you been doing all this time?"

"They come to a little opening in the forrest, and looked around. There they behold ancient structure—a building so old, op-

CAUSED ROW BY FAVORING ROME

New York Protestant Episcopal Rector Is to Be Soon Brought to Trial.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Miss Dorothy Flynn, daughter of Dennis Flynn, formerly delegate in Congress from Oklahoma, is to be married on Tuesday to Dr. J. J. Richardson, one of President Roosevelt's physicians. The wedding will take place at St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, and will be attended by the younger set of society.

Miss Flynn is one of the prettiest girls in Washington, and is known among her chums as the "Honorable Dot" because the official position of her father. She has been in the East eight years and graduated from Ken Mar College at Hagerstown, Maryland, afterward taking a course at the Georgetown convent and a fashionable finishing school in St. Louis. Her one fail is the collection of Indian relics, and she has one of the most complete collections extant.

Dr. Richardson is a graduate of the University of Maryland, and afterwards studied in Edinburgh and other European colleges. He is regarded as one of the most successful thoracic specialists in the country. Dr. Richardson and his bride will make a three-months' trip to Europe, going first to Italy.

Miss Flynn's bridal gown is white piano velvet with real lace, bertha and ruffles, embroidered in pearls, and the sleeves are of chiffon, made in flowing style. She will wear a slimy wedding veil. The going-away costume is a handsome Parisian importation of navy blue, trimmed with light touches of green. The waist of the gown is also antique lace of beautiful design.

In her trousseau there is a daintily woven blue satin, another of piano velvet, brilliant red. A most effective evening gown is a black jet with large sprays of roses.

An afternoon dress will be a white muslin with a lace border, and a short hat of lace.

At this place much to their surprise, the explorers found the domesticated trolley car, which would stop when they hollered,

MISS FLYNN WILL MARRY TUESDAY

Will Go to Europe For a Three-Months' Bridal Tour.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Miss Dorothy Flynn, daughter of Dennis Flynn, formerly delegate in Congress from Oklahoma, is to be married on Tuesday to Dr. J. J. Richardson, one of President Roosevelt's physicians. The wedding will take place at St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, and will be attended by the younger set of society.

Miss Flynn is one of the prettiest girls in Washington, and is known among her chums as the "Honorable Dot" because the official position of her father. She has been in the East eight years and graduated from Ken Mar College at Hagerstown, Maryland, afterword taking a course at the Georgetown convent and a fashionable finishing school in St. Louis. Her one fail is the collection of Indian relics, and she has one of the most complete collections extant.

Dr. Richardson is a graduate of the University of Maryland, and afterwards studied in Edinburgh and other European colleges. He is regarded as one of the most successful thoracic specialists in the country. Dr. Richardson and his bride will make a three-months' trip to Europe, going first to Italy.

Miss Flynn's bridal gown is white piano velvet with real lace, bertha and ruffles, embroidered in pearls, and the sleeves are of chiffon, made in flowing style. She will wear a slimy wedding veil. The going-away costume is a handsome Parisian importation of navy blue, trimmed with light touches of green. The waist of the gown is also antique lace of beautiful design.

In her trousseau there is a daintily woven blue satin, another of piano velvet, brilliant red. A most effective evening gown is a black jet with large sprays of roses.

An afternoon dress will be a white muslin with a lace border, and a short hat of lace.

ALABAMA WILL HAVE NO EXHIBIT

Commissioners Decide Not to Make Display at World's Fair.

Declares That His Daughter Is but 13 Although She Says She's Older.

MONTGOMERY, April 18.—Alabama will not be represented by a state exhibit at the World's Fair at St. Louis.

This decision was made by the state commission after an all-day session. When the commissioners met, the members were aware that Gov. Jelks was opposed to an appropriation to make a satisfactory exhibit, so plans were discussed for raising money to supplement what was thought could be gotten from the state.

It was determined to ask for subscriptions of $1 to the fund, and the committee was named to see the governor. The governor informed the committee that he did not believe the treasury could stand any appropriation. The commission then abandoned the idea of an exhibit, adopting the following resolution:

"Whereas, The Alabama World's Fair Commission, in session today, has been duly informed that the chief executive of the state will not see his way clear to give his approval to an appropriation to be used for the making of a state exhibit in the opinion of the commission would be sufficient for the making of a state exhibit at the World's Fair; therefore be it resolved, that it may reasonably be expected by us that the public will respond thereto; therefore be it

"Resolved, That this commission does not believe it is time to adopt any plan for raising a subscription for making resolutions be sent to each of the commissioners and the commission would be sufficient for the making of a state exhibit at the World's Fair.

"Resolved further, That the commissioners of the state of Alabama, of whose request this commission was created,

Land Case Raises an Important International Question as to the Mexican Boundary.

W. C. T. U. Workers Will Try to Break Boy of Bad Habits.

OMAHA, Neb., April 18.—The Woman's Christian Temperance Union has secured the count of the county court to try to accomplish what the Children Saving Institute and other charitable institutions could not to teach little Frank Hill to be a good boy. Judge Vinsonhaier allowed the members of the union to take the 8-year-old lad from the county jail for a brief probation.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Alice Hill, at Eighteenth and Ohio streets long ago gave up trying to make the lad behave. He used tobacco, drank, refused to go to school and avoided all forms of work. In spite of his bad habits he is a very handsome child, having long blonde hair and pretty blue eyes full of humor.

The W.C.T.U. workers were the first in Mexico to promote temperance.

They were the first in Mexico to visit the country in such cases the land shall remain under the authority of the country from which it was taken. The suit also will decide the geographic line of the city, which should be in Warder's favor, fully one-third of El Paso would pass under Mexican rule. There are 13 of these cases in all.

HAS SON-IN-LAW PUT IN PRISON

Declares That His Daughter Is but 13 Although She Says She's Older.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 18.—Lee W. Rawlinson is in the county jail on a charge of abduction. The warrant for his arrest was thrown out by G. D. Pate, the father of Miss Annie Pate. Mr. Pate and his family live at Avondale.

Rawlinson and Miss Annie Pate were married in Birmingham a week ago without the consent of the bride's parents. When the father heard his daughter had married he was angry and at once issued a warrant for Rawlinson's arrest, claiming that his daughter had not reached her thirteenth year.

Rawlinson pleaded with Mr. Pate for forgiveness. He cried a little and his young wife also burst into tears. The old man and his wife had no effect on the parent and nothing the couple could do or did to persuade him to forgive them did. For an hour they discussed the case and then Rawlinson was locked up in the county jail and his wife went home with her father.

Rawlinson, in discussing the matter, said: "I am sorry the old folks have kicked up such a row over our marriage."

"My wife and I were married Saturday night. I knew it would be of no use to ask her father to give his consent, late Saturday afternoon she met me. We got in a car and came to Birmingham, where the ceremony was performed by a minister.

"After we were married I telephoned to my mother. She had been married for us and everything was all right. Now her father comes along and has me put in jail. I can see that I have done anything wrong but I married the girl; I love her, and she is mine."

TO SAVE A PRETTY BOY.

W. C. T. U. Workers Will Try to Break Boy of Bad Habits.

EL PASO, Tex., April 18.—The case of J. W. Warder v. Mrs. A. M. Loomis et al. is on in the Federal Court before Judge Maxey. The suit involves title to property in the southern portion of the city, estimated to be worth $2,250,000, and in a sense an international question, as the United States and Mexico are involved.

Warder claims that the boundary of the Rio Grande has so changed since the treaty between the United States and Mexico was promulgated that lands which were in the time in Mexico are now in the United States. The lands in such cases the land shall remain under the authority of the country from which it was taken. The suit also will decide the geographic line of the city, which should be in Warder's favor, fully one-third of El Paso would pass under Mexican rule. There are 13 of these cases in all.

TRAVELED 22,800 MILES AT SEA IN THREE YEARS IN A GLASS CASE

Max Orthwein's Message In a Champagne Bottle—Made Longest Journey on Record—Dropped Off on Voyage to Bremen and Picked Up in British West Indies.

The longest journey ever taken by an empty champagne bottle is that just ended at the little British West Indies Island of Anguilla.

The voyage is especially interesting because the bottle was cast into the sea by a St. Louis man.

There was a message in the bottle and the offer of a reward for the bottle's finder. The reward has just been claimed, and a British 42 note has been forwarded to the claimant.

Max R. Orthwein, of St. Louis, president of the horse show and backer of the Browns baseball team, was on his way to Bremen on the morning of July 8, 1898. He is 780 miles out from New York.

There was a lively crowd on the steamer Friedrich der Grosse. A few weeks had been drawn the night before. An empty champagne bottle was not hard to find. Mr. Orthwein found a strong one and placed a note inside. He corked the bottle with great care and dropped it over the side. This is what the note said:

"East End Anguilla, British West Indies, March 3, 1903.—Inclosed please find a note in which you promise a reward of $10 to the finder. It was found by me in Savannah Bay, near Anguilla, on the morning of February 25, 1903. I claim the reward so offered. Hoping soon to hear from you and that you may be pleased, I am dear sir, yours truly,

JOHN P. LAKE.

"Anguilla, or Snake Island," said Dr. Hyatt, the weather observer and an expert on ocean and air currents, is 18 miles off the coast of the British Isles north of St. Martin. It has about 300 population, it is washed by the Gulf stream and the main equatorial current. It is extremely probable that the bottle traveled this much greater distance than 900 miles.

"The shortest route it could have taken would have been a journey around the Suez Canal body of water in the Atlantic, an oasis between a desert of currents. North of this last body is the Gulf stream and south of it is the African current that crosses the Gulf stream.

"The warm water goes across the Gulf of Mexico and the cooler water of the Gulf of Mexico runs along the coast and joins the tropical heat of the African coast. This circuit is about 15,000 miles.

"But part of the African current runs along the eastern coast and joins the Guinea current, which is a back current between the Gulf stream and the main equatorial current, both of which run north.

"The Gulf stream, however, continues past Guinea and striking the African gold coast at St. Thomas swings south to St. Thomas, where the South American current and the cold water of the South American current meet at the northern boundary of the oasis of the Andes.

"The warm water this way is about 700 miles long.

"The bottle may have made this before getting into the main equatorial current and going up to the South American coast. It would make a total of 22,000 miles the bottle would have traversed.

"Trailing 20 miles a day with current and drift which follows the current, the distance might have been made in three years and 45 days, over the entire great circuit. The time the bottle would have drapped while the bottle was afloat, was three years, seven months and 15 days. It was ample, you see, to have permitted the journey of 22,000 miles to have been taken.

Mysterious Disappearance of a Joplin, Mo., Mine Operator Explained.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JOPLIN, Mo., April 18.—The case of the mysterious disappearance of Herman Kollmeyer from this city eight years ago has at last been cleared up. Mr. Kollmeyer was a prominent mine operator here many years ago and is now in the Joplin city jail violently insane.

Kollmeyer left Joplin on November 15, 1900, for Washington, on a mining deal. Three days before arriving there he was found to be a raving maniac and was confined in the United States Insane Asylum.

There was nothing on the man's person to indicate where he had come from, nor was it possible to tell anything about himself. Ever since that time he has been a patient in the hospital, receiving repeated efforts failing to establish his identity.

A few days Kollmeyer suddenly recovered of his reason and informed the attendants who he was and where he lived. Arrangements were at once made to return him to Joplin.

During the trip back Kollmeyer's real identity was discovered. When he arrived here he was violent and continued to mutter incomprehensibly by way of reply to questions put to him.

He also asserted that he and another boy had been to work certain districts, getting a share of the stealing of all of them. He also asserted that he and another boy had been to work among a crowd of men, who he said were miners.

He grabbed a pocketbook containing $80. Its owner, a woman, screamed, the patrolmen arrested the boy after a short struggle, and he was paroled.

Now he is in the hospital again, and is still being drilled deeper in order to get a better flow of oil. Yesterday, while the driller in one well was drilling the other driller was drilling with the cable rig. Some disturbance was noted in the bottom of the well being drilled, and upon bringing the borer to the surface it was found that it had a hole punched in it by the drill in the other well, and subsequent developments proved that two holes had met in the oil sand and the drill from the one well had punched a hole in the other, which made it impossible to continue drilling the holes, they inclined slightly toward each other, and at a depth of 1000 feet ran together. The situation now is intricate and as neither of the well owners nor the driller can tell exactly what will be done in the future it is impossible to say what will be the outcome of this incident. Evidently one or the other will have to give way or the two holes will open up and divide and divide the oil. It might also be possible to plumb one or both of the holes and determine which one of the holes transgressed the other man's property.

What Pe-ru-na Is Doing in All Phases of Spring Catarrh.

ALL OVER THE UNITED STATES MEN OF FAME AND WOMEN OF PROMINENCE USE PE-RU-NA FOR CATARRH WHEREVER LOCATED.

Suffering Women—Tired, Nervous, Aching, Trembling, Sleepless, Bloodless, Pe-ru-na Renovates, Regulates, Restores.

Mrs. Emma Mitchell.

AMERICA is the land of nervous women. The great majority of nervous women are so because they are suffering from some form of female disease. By far the greatest number of female troubles are caused directly by catarrh. They are catarrh of the organ which is affected. These women despair of recovery. Female trouble is common, so prevalent that they accept it as almost inevitable. The greatest obstacle in the way of recovery is that they do not understand that it is catarrh which is the source of their illness. In female complaint ninety-nine cases out of one hundred are nothing but catarrh. Peruna cures wherever located.

Mrs. Emma Mitchell, 520 Louisiana street, Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"Peruna has certainly been a blessing in disguise to me, for when I first began taking it for troubles peculiar to the sex and a gradually worn-out system, I had little faith. For the past five years I have rarely been without pain, but Peruna has changed all this, and in a very short time. I think I had only taken two bottles before I began to recuperate very quickly, and seven bottles made me well. I do not have headache or backache any more, and have some interest in life. I give all credit where it is due, and that is to Peruna." —Emma Mitchell.

Chronic invalids who have languished for years on sick beds with some form of female disease begin to improve at once after beginning Dr. Hartman's treatment.

Mrs. Emma Mitchell, 520 Louisiana street, Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

Dr. Llewellyn Jordan,
Medical Ex. U. S. Treas.

MEDICAL EXAMINER JORDAN

Of the United States Treasury Recommends Pe-ru-na.

Dr. Llewellyn Jordan, Medical Examiner of the U. S. Treasury Department, graduate of Columbia College, and who served three years at West Point, has the following to say of Peruna:

"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from your wonderful remedy. One short month has brought forth a vast change and I now consider myself a well man, after months of suffering. Fellow-sufferers, Peruna will cure you." —Dr. Llewellyn Jordan.

A tonic is a medicine that gives tone to some part of the system. There are different kinds of tonics, but the tonic most needed in this country, where catarrh is so prevalent, is a tonic that operates on the mucous membranes.

Peruna is a tonic to the mucous membranes of the whole body. It gives tone to the capillary circulation, which constitutes these delicate membranes.

Peruna is a specific in its operation upon the mucous membrane. It is a tonic that strikes at the root of all catarrhal affections. It gives tone to the minute blood vessels and the terminal nerve fibers. Catarrh cannot exist long where Peruna is used intelligently. Peruna seeks out catarrh in all the hidden parts of the body. That it is a specific for this phase of catarrh called catarrhal nervousness, the following letter shows:

Mr. T. W. Scott, Custom House, San Francisco, Cal., writes: "Some time ago I suffered from indigestion, loss of sleep, and what might be termed general exhaustion. I was recommended to try Peruna, which I did, and found that it did all that was claimed for it. I had tried quite a number of tonics, but Peruna was the first one from which I derived any great benefit. Several of my family have used it for different complaints, as we never are without a bottle in the house, and it seems to be a household necessity. I always recommend it to my friends who I think need such a remedy." —Adam Doering.

During this time three physicians treated me; they did not help me and gave me no hope of recovery. I was positive of dying soon, when my attention was called to Peruna as a fine tonic and all-around good much expectation of being benefited by it. But soon its effects began to show. I could sleep, my appetite returned, I became stronger mentally and my nervous trembling ceased. I used about 20 bottles in a year and at the end of that time I was another man. My health was and is now more robust than it has been for many years."

Peruna saved my life and I write this to express my thanks. I hope that you will use it, and make it known for the benefit of suffering humanity. We are never without Peruna in our house now, and it never fails to help." —Adam Doering.

Pe-ru-na Cures Catarrh Wherever Located.

(Over Forty Members of Congress Personally Endorse Pe-ru-na.)

Hon. W. V. Sullivan, United States Senator from Mississippi, in a letter recently written to Dr. Hartman from Oxford, Miss., says the following of Peruna as a catarrh remedy:

"For some time I have been a sufferer from catarrh in its most incipient stage, so much so that I became alarmed as to my general health. But, hearing of Pe-ru-na as a good remedy, I gave it a fair trial and soon began to improve. Its effects were distinctly beneficial, removing the annoying symptoms, and it was particularly good as a tonic.

"I consider it as rather a carefully prepared physician's prescription, and have never found any which acts so promptly and permanently as Peruna. It deserves the highest praise and I know that those who have tried it have perfect faith in it." —C. P. Jenkins.

Mr. Herman Roese, New Butterfield street, Syracuse, N. Y., overseer of the Board of Education of Webster's Ind school, Director 8, in the town of Sedalia. He writes:

"Exposure seems to affect the lungs and kidneys of the poor, and I have seen hundreds of these who were broken down in health from this cause. I am pleased to tell you that Peruna has proven a most efficacious remedy in a number of cases where no other medicine was used. I consider it a specific for any disorders of the respiratory organs." —Herman Roese.

Catarrh of the kidney can be cured by Peruna with the same surety and promptness as catarrh of the head. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located.

Hon. H. W. Odgen, Congressman from Louisiana, was elected to the 53d, 54th and 55th Congress. In a letter written at Washington, D. C., he says the following of Pe-ru-na, the national catarrh remedy:

"I can conscientiously recommend your Peruna as a fine tonic and all-around medicine to those who are in need of a catarrh remedy. It has been commended to me by people who have used it, as a remedy particularly effective in the cure of catarrh. For those who need a good catarrh medicine I know of nothing better." —H. W. Odgen.

We have letters of recommendation from over forty members of Congress attesting to the virtues of Peruna as a catarrh tonic.

Mr. L. H. Bourbeau, 49 St. Hubert St., Montreal, Canada, writes:

"I have suffered a great deal with constipation, owing to the lack of exercise and too close application to my desk. Peruna proved a veritable blessing to me, and my dollar's worth did me more good than one hundred dollar's worth of doctors' medicines, not to mention the suffering from backache and headache and tired feelings when you feel that you cannot stop work, even though you are not able to go on. A few doses of Peruna relieved me and my health was soon restored. I am now completely well and give Peruna the credit." —L. H. Bourbeau.

Mr. Herman Roese, New Butterfield street, Syracuse, N. Y., overseer of the Board of Education of Webster's Ind school, Director 8, in the town of Sedalia. He writes:

"I decided to take a tonic, and asked a friendly druggist what he considered the best, and he answered, 'Peruna is the one that never fails.'

Hon. Frank Dunn, Alderman Twenty-fourth District, writes from 22 East Fifty-eighth street, New York City: "Gentlemen: There is no remedy for a broken-down system that I know of which will so effectively restore health as Pe-ru-na.

"Whenever I am overworked or suffer from the consequences of a cold, a few doses of Peruna builds me up again more quickly than anything I ever tried. I find it especially valuable for catarrh. Three bottles cured me three years ago of catarrh of the stomach and I have never had the least symptom of it since." —Frank Dunn.

Anyone can escape entirely the ill effects of spring weather, and instead of dragging drearily through weeks of bad feelings and perhaps acquiring a fatal disease can find themselves in as excellent spirits and health as at any other time of the year.

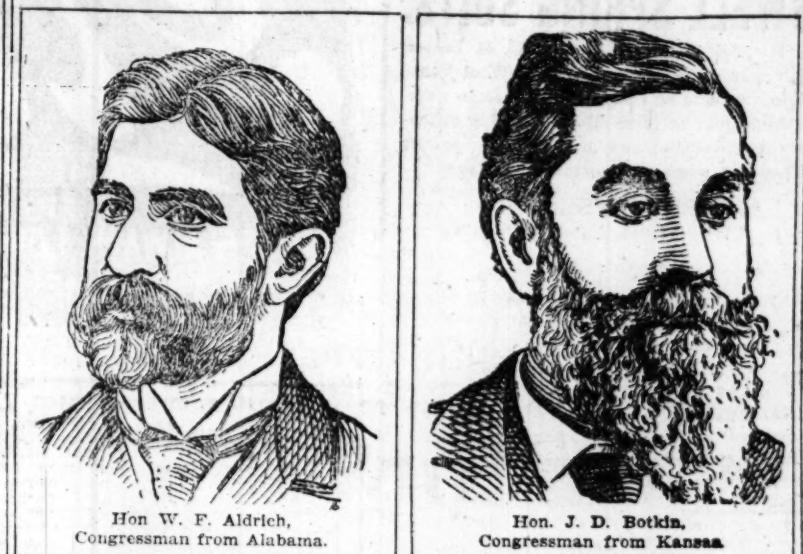

Get a bottle of Peruna when the first languid feelings make themselves apparent in the spring. Take it according to the directions on the bottle. Continue this treatment through the first months of spring. This course of treatment is not experimental; it is as positive in its results as any fact of science can be.

Congressman Aldrich Endorses the Tonic, Pe-ru-na.

Says: "It Will Build Up a Depleted System Rapidly."

Hon. W. F. Aldrich, Congressman from Alabama, writes from Washington, D. C.: "This is to certify that Peruna, manufactured by The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio, has been used in my family with success. It is a fine tonic and will build up a depleted system rapidly. I can recommend it to those who need a safe vegetable remedy for debility." —W. F. Aldrich.

In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, Congressman Botkin says: "My Dear Doctor: I have been afflicted more or less for a quarter of a century with catarrh of the stomach and constipation. A residence in Washington has increased these troubles. A few bottles of your medicine have given me almost complete relief, and I assure you that the action of them will effect a permanent cure." —J. D. Botkin.

Men the Same as Women Use Peruna for Systemic Catarrh with Equally Good Results.

In a letter from Emsley, South Dakota, Mr. Adam Doering writes as follows:

"For about three years I was afflicted with sleeplessness, lack of appetite and felt at all times feverish and nervous. There would be ringing in my ears and I got so weak finally that I could not attend to my farm work.

"During this time three physicians treated me; they did not help me and gave me no hope of recovery. I was positive of dying soon, when my attention was called to Peruna as a fine tonic and all-around good much expectation of being benefited by it. But soon its effects began to show. Peruna saved my life and I write this to express my thanks. I hope that you will use it, and make it known for the benefit of suffering humanity. We are never without Peruna in our house now, and it never fails to help." —Adam Doering.

Congressman H. Henry Powers of Vermont writes from Morrisville, Vt.:

"Peruna I have used in my family with success. I can recommend it as an excellent family remedy and very good for coughs, colds and catarrhal affections."

Congressman H. Henry Powers of Vermont writes from Morrisville, Vt.:

"Peruna I have used in my family with success. I can recommend it as an excellent family remedy and very good for coughs, colds and catarrhal affections."

H. HENRY POWERS.

All that is claimed for Peruna is that it cures catarrh wherever located, by its action on the vaso-motor system of nerves.

"I used Peruna off and on and it keeps me in perfect health, and I never feel completely exhausted as I used to." —Elizabeth Brown.

CATARRHAL NERVOUSNESS.

A Condition Known as Systemic Catarrh—A Prominent Doctor Cured by Pe-ru-na.

Dr. G. B. Crowe, a physician and a very influential man in Alabama, and Chairman of the Populist State Committee, in a recent letter to Dr. Hartman of Columbus, Ohio, says:

Washington, D. C.

"Peruna is a most valuable medicine. It affords me unlimited pleasure to testify to the merits of your remedy as a catarrh cure. I have used it as such and find it of very great benefit when my system is run down. I heartily recommend Peruna to all whose nervous systems are deranged." Yours truly,

G. B. CROWE, M. D.

The nervous system is the source of all our bodily powers, mental or physical.

The brain and spinal cord generate the power and the nerve fibers convey the power to every part of the body.

It is the nerves that give the heart power to beat; it is the nerves that give the arteries the power to contract, and thus regulate the flow of blood through them.

Each artery is provided with an elastic muscular coat, which is capable of contracting or expanding so as to permit more or less blood to pass through, according to the needs of the body.

The symptoms of catarrhal nervousness are: A foreboding of calamity, a sense of something awful about to happen, twitching of the eyelids, moving brows, species before the eyes, and metallic ringing of the ears, sour stomach after eating, with belching of gas, a feeling of great weight in the stomach, morbid fear of leaving home, a constant desire to talk of symptoms, chills and hot flashes, hands and feet usually cold and clammy, general tendency to coldness and dryness of the skin of the whole body, neuralgic headache, nervous chills, hysteria, sinking and faint spells, distressing palpitation of the heart, defective sight, total inability to read, write or do any business, urine abundant without color, loss of flesh, sleeplessness and sexual excitability. Some of these symptoms are present in every case.

When this congestion continues for some time it is known as chronic catarrh.

Whenever it occurs it produces the same condition—chronic catarrh.

WE DO NOT NEED
A DOCTOR AS LONG AS WE HAVE PERUNA

Mrs. F. Desaulniers, 341 Dorchester street, Montreal, Canada, writes: "Peruna is of veritable blessing to women. Peruna builds up the entire system and makes you well. I have the greatest faith in it, for I have never yet found it to fail either my family or myself in time of sickness. I have known of cases of chronic catarrh and stiffnesses of long standing. We have a doctor as long as we have Peruna."

FREIGHT TURNS TO THE SOUTH

Railroad Men Look for a Change in Trend of Trade.

ATTENTION CALLED TO ADVANTAGES OF SOUTH

Even Westbound Goods Are Sent South by Water to Savannah and Thence to Texas and Territories.

NEW YORK, April 18.—The attempt to merge the Rock Island and Frisco roads and the deep interest taken in the transaction by the Southern and the Atlantic coast line has served to call attention to the importance of the South in respect to its opportunities for railroad development, and the advantageous situation of a number of its seaports for the handling of American export trade.

The eastern trunk lines have for so long exerted so powerful an influence on the shipping interests of the Middle West that until recently the north Atlantic ports have been looked upon as the only outlets for American surplus products worthy of consideration.

But the railroads, which are the steamship lines, and furthermore, steamships go where the railroads touch the water.

In the beginning railroads have been where they were most needed to support them, and thus it happened that the chief transcontinental highways of transportation have been cut out through competition, and the railroads have had to travel the longest instead of the shortest distance between two points.

Railroad men of eminent position and long experience have recently declared that in their opinion the time has come for much of the long-haul traffic of the country to seek new routes, and that the railroads that have been built up to date will be the building of the Panama canal will, of course, have a revolutionary effect on the movement of freight originating at the port of New York, but long before the completion of that great work, railroad men declare there will be radical rearrangements of the avenues of trade.

A typical illustration of the things they refer to is found in the movement of the agricultural products to southern ports instead of to New York. The establishment of a new steamship service between New Orleans and European ports, as mentioned in our issue of yesterday, is entirely the result of the inability of the eastern trunk lines to handle the freight expeditiously. But the agents of the new line have said that the present condition of the freight congestion, the class of freight referred to will continue to go out by the south door, inasmuch as a large proportion of it is destined for the southern countries of Europe.

At present an immense tonnage of New England cottons and other manufactured articles is sent by water to Savannah, and thence into the St. Louis and Kansas City territory by railroad. This method of route is the most economical, because the cost is the cheap water rate for a large part of the way. It is estimated that, in general, railroad rates are 40 water rates as those of Europe.

In like manner the trend of freight movement for the Pacific coast towards Southern routes, as existing at present, in railroad portages of the journey and not subject to constant delays of the northern transcontinental lines. The Southern routes have no snow to contend with in winter, and avoid almost entirely the grades of the mountain system.

A comparison of maps between the two great systems of the continent will serve to bring out the point more clearly. From New York via the Pennsylvania Railroad to San Francisco is 3745 miles. Over the New York Central and the Western Union Pacific, the distance is about 3415 miles, and over the Northern routes the distance is about the same.

Utilizing some of the roads already built, a direct line could be constructed across the southern part of the country from San Diego or the Pacific to Brunswick or Sagamore on the Atlantic, with a length a little under 2300 miles.

With the thousand miles saved in railroad distance, the Southern route would still pay for 2000 miles of water transportation and come out on even terms. Of course, the water haul to New York or to San Francisco, or the sum of both hauls, would be but a fraction of that 3000 miles.

SHOW LIFE ON THE PLAINS

Men Who Compose Col. Mulhall's Congress of Rough Riders and Ropers Are Experts.

Col. Zach. Mulhall's Congress of Rough Riders and Ropers, selected from the pick of the country, will be seen in front of the grandstand on the St. Louis Fair Association grounds, Sunday, May 3. Two performances will be given on that day—in the morning at 10:30, and in the afternoon at 2:30. Col. Mulhall, who is a warm personal friend of President Roosevelt, received a telegram yesterday from Secretary Loeb stating that the President will be guest of Col. Mulhall and his men, many of whom were with President Roosevelt at the burial of San Juan.

Miss Louise Mulhall, who is regarded as the most artistic rider and roper in the world, will take part in the contest, roping, riding, stunts and the like. Miss Cherry Harris, the noted horse woman of Williston, N. D., will be seen in St. Louis for the first time in her wonderful exhibition in controlling untamed horses.

Among the other noted stars who will take part in the different riding and roping contests, there are some of the leading non-professional riders and ropers of the world are the following:

Reiley, Big Springs, Tex.; Charley Pool, Cheyenne, Tex.; Jim McNeilly, Mid-Tex; Joe Gardner (Handsome Joe), San Angelo, Tex.; Gus Pickett, Decatur, Tex.; George Gandy, Fort Worth; Horquitos, City of Mexico; E. R. Holt, El Paso; S. T. Privett, San Angelo; W. C. Edwards, Chihuahua, Mex.; Jim Hopkins, Mulhall, Okla.; Tom Miller, Tex.; Alton Draper, Big Springs, Tex.; Capt. John Sterling, Australia; Frank Sterrett, Alaska.

Col. Mulhall has also secured the consent of the government to have tribes of Sioux, Cheyenne and Oglala Indians to take part in the contest, and to themselves, including their famous war dances. Among the other features of the entertainment will be glass ball shooting, wild ride, pistol and shotgun, bay riding, wild cattle riding and other sports that form a part of genuine cowboy life.

The famous Frisco Cow Band, which led the parade at the inaugural of President McKinley, and Vice-President Roosevelt, will be in evidence at the entertainments, and will give morning concert.

HELP SMITH'S ATHLETICS.

Entertainment for Benefit of Association at Y. M. C. A. Hall Friday Night.

Alma, Ed and Al R. Douglas, piano solos; Eddie Lockwood and George W. Simmons, solos; Charles L. Smith will do character sketches, and so will recite poems.

SUITS FOR THE MAIDS, AH, AND A PARLOR, TOO

New Apartment Building in Sheridan Park, Chicago, Provides Separate Section for the Working Girls of Tenants in Flats.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, April 18.—"Hello! Yes, this is Mary—yes, this is Mary. Oh, hello, John, how are you? Will you come in? Surely, Yes, I'll be in the parlor."

This is likely to be the greeting of the housemaid when her favorite policeman calls at the Malden apartments, in Sheridan Park, next week.

In the new apartment building recently completed in Sheridan Park the owner, designer, and tenants think they have found the solution of the servant problem. All of them believe the plan is better than the "help-home" lectures given at Lake Shore drive residences, and the Shakespearean talks, lady-fingers, and ice cream provided by the women of Wilmette.

This scheme is that of separate apartments for the housemaids. It provides rooms for them apart from the families which employ them, and also gives them a place in which to rest after their day's work.

George L. Laverly, created the apartment building in the north end of the city last year, and to rent the flats. The principal complaint is that the tenants seemed to remain. The tenants seemed to blame this on the landlord, and he determined to do something to which they could have no objection.

As a result, the Malden was put up at an additional street and Leland avenue. There are flats, bedrooms, living room, and a parlor for the maid, which makes the place comfortable to remain. On the first floor an apartment has been placed on the market. It is in one corner of the building, and is exposed to the sunlight, and is a flat comprising 1200 square feet. Of these are sleeping rooms, and one bath, which is to be allowed in them. Another is a library in which there are books and magazines, and there also is a parlor, as well as bathrooms.

"I. T." SOCIETY DINNER.
South Side Literary Club to Meet at West End Hotel.

The "I. T." Literary Society of the South Side will give their first annual banquet at the West End Hotel, Monday evening. Edward C. ## President of United States and Representatives of All Nations to Be Here.

EVENTS OF OCCASION WILL LAST 3 DAYS

Grand Display of Fireworks and Military Will Be the Chief Spectacular Features.

There will be ample sleeping and eating accommodations for all of the thousands who will visit St. Louis to witness the dedication ceremonies of the World's Fair April 30 and May 1 and 2.

The free information service of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company will be established in the main hall of the Union Station April 23. The steam and electric roads will appoint uniformed men to assist the bureau by meeting passengers in the depot midway as they come from trains and directing them to the bureau and by giving information at Market and Eighteenth streets, where cars are taken.

Every street car conductor will be instructed to inform visitors on arrival at transfer points or at destination and conductors on railway trains will be expected

ST. LOUIS DEDICATION FACTS

St. Louis Dedication Days, April 30, May 1 and 2:

Estimated attendance, World's Fair Grounds	350,000
Distance from city	8-10 miles
Number of street car lines to grounds	6
Cars in service, all lines, estimated	1,000
Carrying capacity of lines per hour:
Laclede and Chouteau, two loops	10,000
Olive, one loop	10,000
Delmar, one loop	10,000
Easton and Page, one loop	10,000
Suburban, one loop	10,000
Total	50,000

to tell visitors of the existence of the information bureau.

"Fully 6000 private homes have been thrown open for dedication guests," said R. H. Sexton of the World's Fair Bureau of publicity. "One old French family wrote me Wednesday that love for the city caused them to place their house at the bureau's disposal. One lady near Beer's Hotel, on Olive street, will open a large mansion and care for 100 persons."

"I had a call from a woman who said she had a large piece of vacant land in the West End and was willing to put up two huge tents, lay a board floor in them, put down Brussels carpet and divide the tent into bedrooms if we would promise to send her guests enough to fill the tents. We showed her that there would be houses enough to accommodate all who come."

"A hundred halls will be turned into dormitories. They will accommodate an average of 175 persons each. A lot of small hotels are building, or already up. A letter from a man on Chouteau avenue tells us he will have 20 rooms ready for guests by April 23. A family hotel on Lindell Avenue writes it will have 100 rooms ready for the dedication crowds. A bachelors' hotel on Olive street has 47 rooms that may be used for those who come to the ceremonies.

Directory of Rooms for Rent.

Before these offers of houses, halls and hotel rooms were made we issued a book that contains the names of all the hotels and boarding and rooming houses in St. Louis. Explanation of the numbering and system of the town is made clear by a map, with Market street as the north and south dividing line, made very distinct. The arrangement of names in the book is made with reference to the nearness of those on the first page to Union Station. Rates and the number that can be accommodated are given. These books are mailed on application, and many persons coming, individually or in groups, have already had correspondence with these books as a basis, and already have their rooms engaged. Jerome C. Higgins, the map maker, devised the book and the scheme it helps to carry out. It is simplicity itself.

"The book shows accommodation for 35,000 persons. With the private houses and halls and small hotels reported since the book was issued we shall have accommodation for a total of 100,000 persons. We have found that there are 480 restaurants in St. Louis, so no one is going to starve while here."

"All the cars to have signs on them that will permit no mistakes to be made in identifying them. Conductors will call streets and their hundred numbers."

"There will be a big band at Eighteenth and Market streets pointing north. The address card given the visitor by the information bureau in the depot will tell which way to go from this sign, what car to take, where to transfer and where to get off. In addition, white flags on which will be printed in blue letters, 'Rooms for World's Fair Visitors,' will be displayed from every houses willing to entertain guests. Policemen will be told to direct guests to follow the flag and all will be well."

"Every newspaper office will have a branch information bureau in the front end of its counting room, with one of our people in charge. This will be a help to those who miss our agents at the station."

Preparations Are All Completed.

All the preparations for the great Fair opening ceremonial have been made and approved by Adjutant-General Henry C. Corbin, U. S. A., grand marshal. He will personally conduct the great military parade on the centennial anniversary of the Louisiana Purchase, April 30.

President Roosevelt will arrive in St. Louis April 29 at 3 p. m. and go at once to the Odeon, where he will address the Good Roads Convention. Ex-President Grover Cleveland is expected to arrive the same day. Both are to be guests of President Francis of the Fair. The monitor Arkansas is expected to reach St. Louis about a day earlier and to be escorted in by steamers.

On the morning of April 30 at 10 o'clock Mayor Wells of St. Louis will tender the freedom of the city to the President of the United States.

United States jacks and marines, regular troops and national guard from various states in the Louisiana purchase headed by the President and ex-Major-General Nelson A. Miles, Admiral George Dewey president, and official guests, will march from Grand avenue west on Lindell boulevard through Forest Park to the Exposition grounds, where, just northwest of the Liberal Arts building, the President and official guests will enter a reviewing stand and review the parade, after the presidential salute of 100 guns has been fired.

There will be a band concert in the Liberal Arts building at 1 p. m., where space for 50,000 persons has been provided. There will be standing room for most of the 800,000 more who are expected to witness the dedication ceremonies.

They begin at 2 p. m., when President Francis will rap for order, with a speech.

The grand chorus will sing "The Heavenly Proclamation." President Francis of the Exposition company will present the banner.

President Roosevelt will deliver the dedication address.

The chorus will sing "Unfold Ye Foursquare."

Ex-President Cleveland will speak.

Full chorus, with band accompaniment, will sing "America."

Bishop H. R. Hebard will offer prayer. Bishop Henry C. Potter will pronounce the benediction.

At 5 p. m. the greatest pyrotechnic display ever seen will begin. There will be 52 pieces, opening with the World's Fair salute of 53 15-inch aerial maroons from the roof of the exposition building followed with an illumination of the park with 100 colored lights, changing color five times. Immediately 100 balloons will go up with fire accompaniment.

Salute to "Old Glory."

Away Up in the Air.

Wonderful as will be some of the other displays, the most brilliant will be the forty-second will be the most startling of all. Seven gas balloons, six of 20,000 cubic feet capacity and one of 40,000 cubic feet capacity will be suspended from incandescent gas lamps, lighting up the locality for miles as bright as day. On reaching an altitude of 2000 feet the central balloon will be unfastened. An aerial salvo of 21 guns will then be fired from balloon, this being the signal for the four others attached to the other balloons to be unfurled.

Each pyro-national flag will be 150x150 feet. The seven balloons will be anchored to the ground, the central balloon 2000 feet apart. When the flags are ignited and unfurled the effect will be dazzling and magnificent, and salutes will be fired from the other balloons released as the flags are unfurled.

One of these gas balloons, made of silk, will be liberated and allowed to drift as far as possible. It will be a message from President Francis of the Fair, and a reward for his return.

The program of the second day provides that members of the diplomatic corps, representatives of foreign governments, guests will assemble in the Long Club, and be thence conducted by military escort to the Liberal Arts building.

At 12 o'clock noon the assembly will be called to order by Mr. Corwin H. Corbin, chairman of the committee on ceremonies of the national commission.

The ceremonies will be as follows:

1. Invocation by Rev. Carl Swenson.

2. Introduction of Hon. John M. Thurston of the national commission, president of the day.

3. Address by the French ambassador.

4. Address by the Spanish minister.

5. Benediction by Rev. Samuel J. Nicollas.

6. Centennial salute of 100 guns.

7. Grand pyrotechnic display will commence at the conclusion of the exercises in the building and continue during the afternoon and evening.

A display of daylight fireworks will commence at the conclusion of the exercises in the building.

Immediately after the close of the ceremonies the governors will proceed to the building selected for their respective states, where corner-stones will be laid and state colors will be raised with appropriate ceremonies.

The review of Lady Managers of the exposition will be conducted by military escort in advance of the parade each day to the reviewing stand. They will be accompanied by the wives of members of the diplomatic corps, members of the Supreme Court of the United States, members of cabinet, members of the joint committee of Congress, the admiral of the navy, lieutenant-general of the army, the grand marshal, the governors of states, the commanding clergymen and members of the national guard.

Each night after the fireworks there will be band concerts to hold the crowds and prevent a rush to the cars when the bands are over.

The Twenty-second United States Infantry Band will be among those participating in these concerts.

All the Fair grounds will entertain distinguished guests from cities as far distant as Denver, Colo.

Governors of states will review this parade in 120 p. m. the audience will assemble in the Liberal Arts building, and will be called to order by Mr. William N. Thompson, chairman of the committee on grounds and buildings. The ceremonies will be as follows:

1. Invocation by Rev. William H. Harper.

2. Introduction of Hon. William L. Ladd, president of the national commission, president of the day.

3. Music.

4. Address of welcome by Hon. A. M. Dockell, governor of Missouri.

5. Response by Hon. Benjamin B. Odell, Jr., governor of New York.

6. Benediction by Rabbi Leon Harrison.

7. Centennial salute of 100 guns.

A display of daylight fireworks will commence at the conclusion of the exercises in the building.

The review of the national commission, president of the day, will end with the display will be made up of 67 members.

An electric cascade 1000 feet long and 95 feet high will conclude the night fireworks.

LOUBET HAS GONE TO VISIT ALGERIA

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

SIDI BEL ABBES, Algeria, April 18.—President Loubet today entered Sidi Bel Abbes, known as the heart of old Algeria, after passing through extensive plantations and towns built up by French colonization. During his stay here he made a speech in the interest of the government took in the important work the colonists were doing in extending French influence.

Later he left for Almecen, where the rest of the trip will be occupied by banquets and festivities.

PARIS, April 18.—President Loubet, accompanied by M. Fallières, President of the Senate; Foreign Minister Delcasse and M. Pelletan, the Minister of Marine, left Paris last Sunday for Marocelles on his way to Algeria.

The President was warmly cheered, as, accompanied by the usual escort of curassiers, he drove across Paris from the Elysee Palace to the Lyons railway station.

Premier Combes and those ministers who do not accompany the President were present at the station to bid him farewell.

After a short stay in Marocelles, where great fetes were given in his honor, President Loubet embarked Tuesday in the new warship Jeanne d'Arc, which had been specially arranged for his accommodation, and, accompanied by MM. Fallières, Delcasse, Pelletan, and escorted by the battleship St. Louis, proceeded to Algiers, where a large French fleet was assembled to receive him. Squadrons of British, Italian and Russian warships also gathered at Algiers in his honor.

The President will remain in Algeria until April 26, visiting important points in the colony, both on the coast and in the interior. It is expected that during his stay a meeting will be arranged with the Sultan of Morocco, the latter coming to some point in Algeria near the Moroccan frontier for that purpose.

Everyone throughout the colony spledid fetes are being organized in honor of President Loubet, who is being the first since Napoleon III that a ruler of France has visited Algeria.

The French President will embark again on the warship Jeanne d'Arc for Tunis. He will land April 27 at La Goleta, the port of Tunis, where the Bay of Tunis and all the high officials of the regency will be assembled to receive him. After spending three days in visiting the various parts of Tunis, President Loubet will embark at the naval port of Bizerte on the evening of April 29 for Marseilles. He will arrive in Paris in time to receive King Edward VII on the latter's arrival there.

Besides Ministers Delcasse and Pelletan, M. Maurel's, minister of public works, will also be of the presidential party. He has gone in advance to meet the President at Algiers. A number of senators and deputies are accompanying the presidential party throughout the trip across the Mediterranean.

While the international attention shown to President Loubet by the assemblage of a powerful foreign squadron in Algerian waters, to salute him on his arrival, is not without significance, a fact which has already made a powerful impression on the Tunisians is that the Bay of Tunis will go to receive the President on his landing—a step that that potentate has never made before for any royal visitor.

has always doubted, even when the trip was first proposed, whether the money in the military fund could be used for such a purpose, and, knowing that even could it be, it would shorten the annual encampment of the troops, which, he believed, created dissatisfaction among the troops not included, he decided that it would be best to call the trip off.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few people realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectively clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it diminishes the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and perhaps the most for the money is in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered willow charcoal and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasantly-tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with them.

The daily use of the lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but, on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but 25 cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better effects in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

HEADACHE

"My father had a headache from stick headache for the last twenty-five years and never found any relief until he began taking your Cascarets. Since he has been taking them he has not had a headache. They have entirely cured him. Cascarets do what you recommend them to do. I will give you the privilege of using his name," H. H. Clemons, 119 Beale St., W. Indianapolis, Ind.

ATE MEALS OFF MANTEL-PIECE

Constable Overattacked All Mrs. Pease's Property but the Wall Paper for Bill of $37.50.

When Deputy Constable George Anderson attacked the furniture of Mrs. Edwin Pease of 324 Morgan street he left her in much the case of the spanked small boy who has to eat his meals off the mantelpiece.

That is the way in which Mrs. Pease described her situation to Judge Handley when she protested to him regarding the action of the constable, who cleaned out her dining room.

In his suit to attach $37.50 worth the deputy made a clean sweep taking not only tables and chairs, but even the carpet on the floor. The wall paper was torn down and it was allowed to remain in place.

Informated that Mrs. Pease intended to move out of the state, the Royal Investment Co. offered her a rent-free apartment in the apartment which she had leased from them and therefore brought an attachment suit.

Although the lessee gave bond, the owner was satisfied and it is said took full forcible possession of the premises.

Mrs. Pease went to Judge Handley for information as to the legality of this summary proceeding and only the tediousness of the suit at law deterred her from bringing action for the removal of the furniture.

The Royal Investment Co., finding itself in danger, it is said, hastened to compromise and Mrs. Pease was allowed to move in peace.

A Solomon at the Turnstile.

From the New York Press.

A modern Solomons came to the front the other day in an East river ferry house. As he passed into the place a man was leaning over the division rail quarreling with the ticket sellers.

"Tell you the dime is Canadian, and they won't take it on the car. I haven't any money," said the man. "I am a Canadian, and they have no right to pass Canadian money on me."

"Can't help it," said the ticket seller. "We are not responsible for the money you bring in."

"What do you mean?" asked the man. "I don't go up the street and change it."

"Some of the boxes it is sold," were addressed to Capt. Chamberlain, the quartermaster of the vessel, and others to other officers, the remainder being addressed to the wife of an armful, and last but least to Manila.

Captain Shuster had Capt. Chamberlain sent before the court of customs appeal trial being set for March 12, the result of which had not been learned here. Capt.

Chamberlain was relieved from duty. It back to the discredited official.

A WIFE'S MESSAGE

Cured Her Husband of Drinking.

Write Her Today and She Will Gladly Tell You How She Did It.

My husband was a hard drinker for over 30 years and had tried in every way to stop him. He could not do it. I had a simple home remedy which any one can give secretly. I will tell you what it is.
